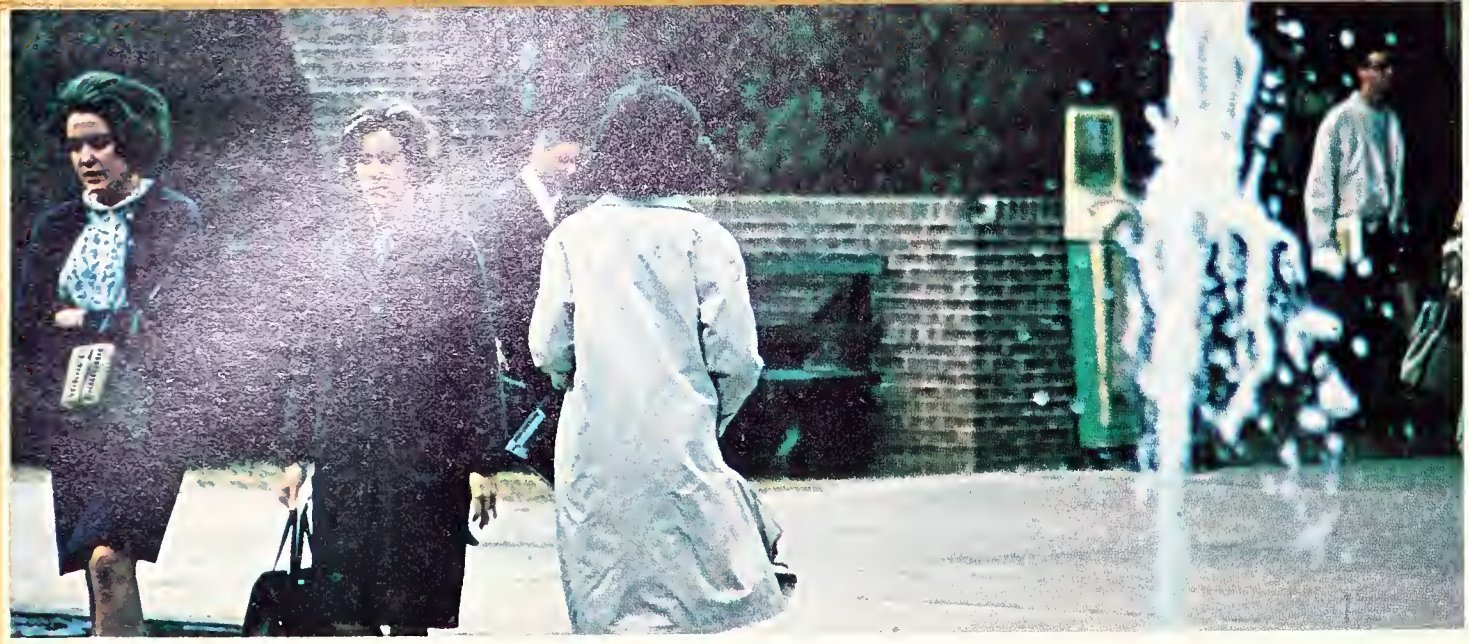
The Florida State University Union Complex--a dream come true, a meeting place, a lighted holiday message...a fast cup of coffee, an organization's initiation banquet, a ride on the only escalator between Pensacola and Jacksonville...a job interview, an unexpected dip in the pool, a trip to senate... a cultural program, an art gallery, a political convention. A Union is indeed an individual thing.



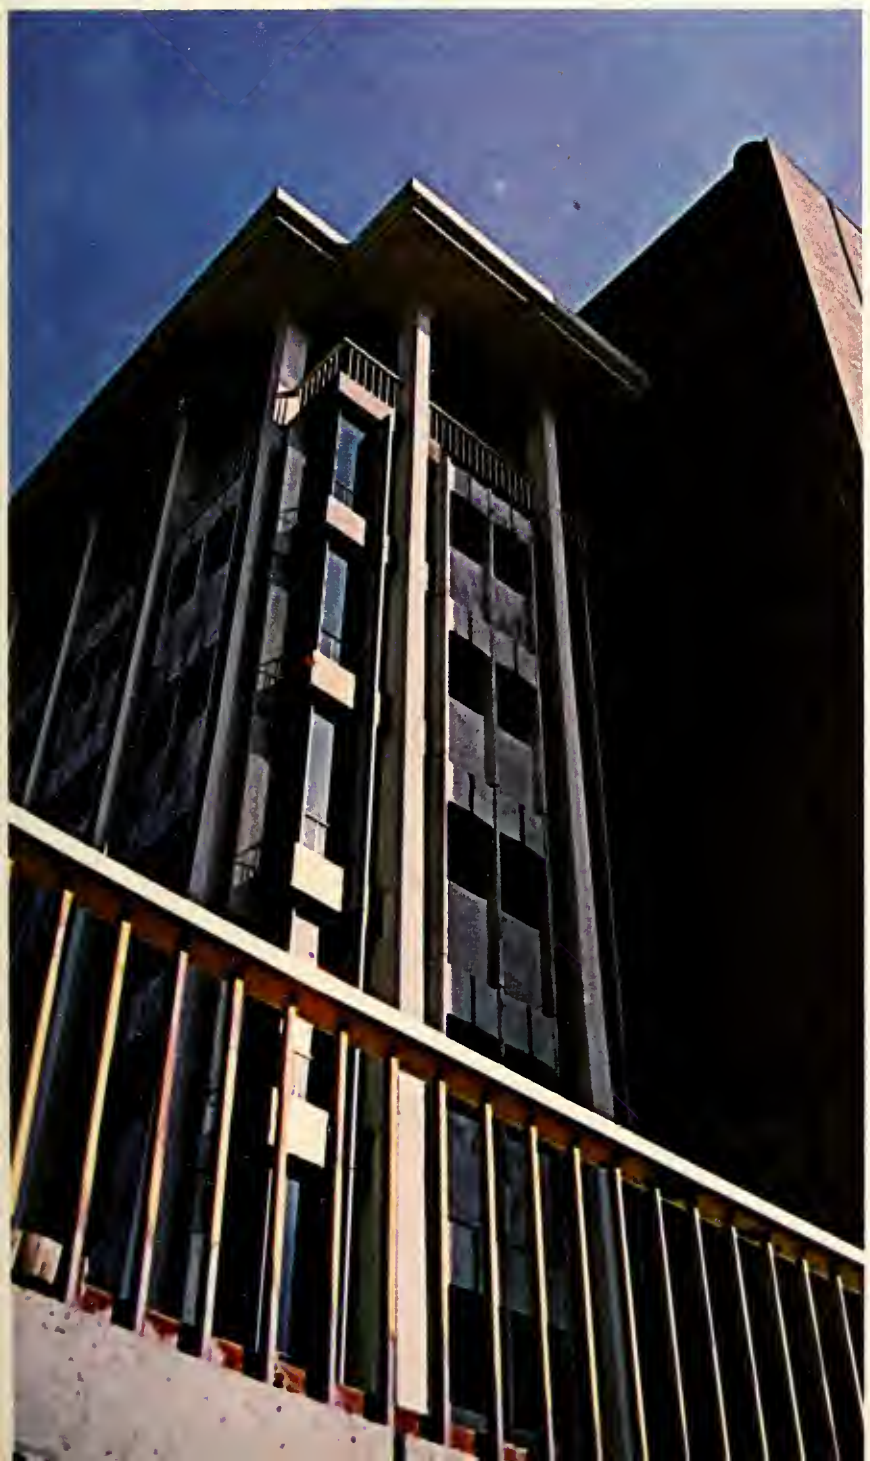
Just as a Union means something special to each person, so is it also a unifying force in the life of its campus and its community. We tend to think of our union as belonging only to students; indeed we must consider it as a liason between administration and student body, between one organization and another, between campus citizens and those of a community, and among students themselves.

Everyone has an excuse for coming to the Union. It can be an opportunity to bowl or play billiards, to mail a letter, to buy a book, or maybe just to get a haircut. A student doesn't really need a reason. He is drawn automatically to the center of campus, cultural, and educational activity--the Union.

The term "union" represents a united body, a campus living room, a community center. It is a learning situation outside the classroom, an exchange of ideas, and, most of all, a meeting of new people and a forming of new relationships. Many of the things we learn at Florida State University will be forgotten as years pass, but working together, giving and taking--these we will always remember and use, for these are the bases of human endeavor.

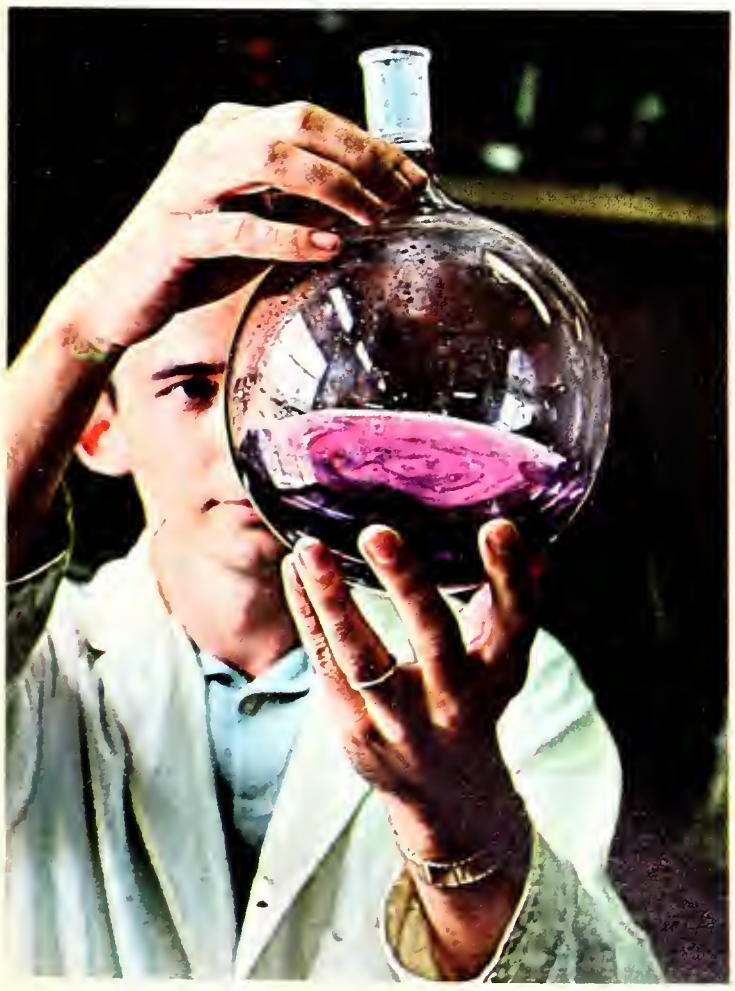
HOMECOMING

A union helps to tie all parts of the campus--its many organizations and students--together. Through sponsorship, meeting rooms, programs, and events the FSU Union extends its force throughout the student body and community, providing entertainment and educational fellowship for all participants.

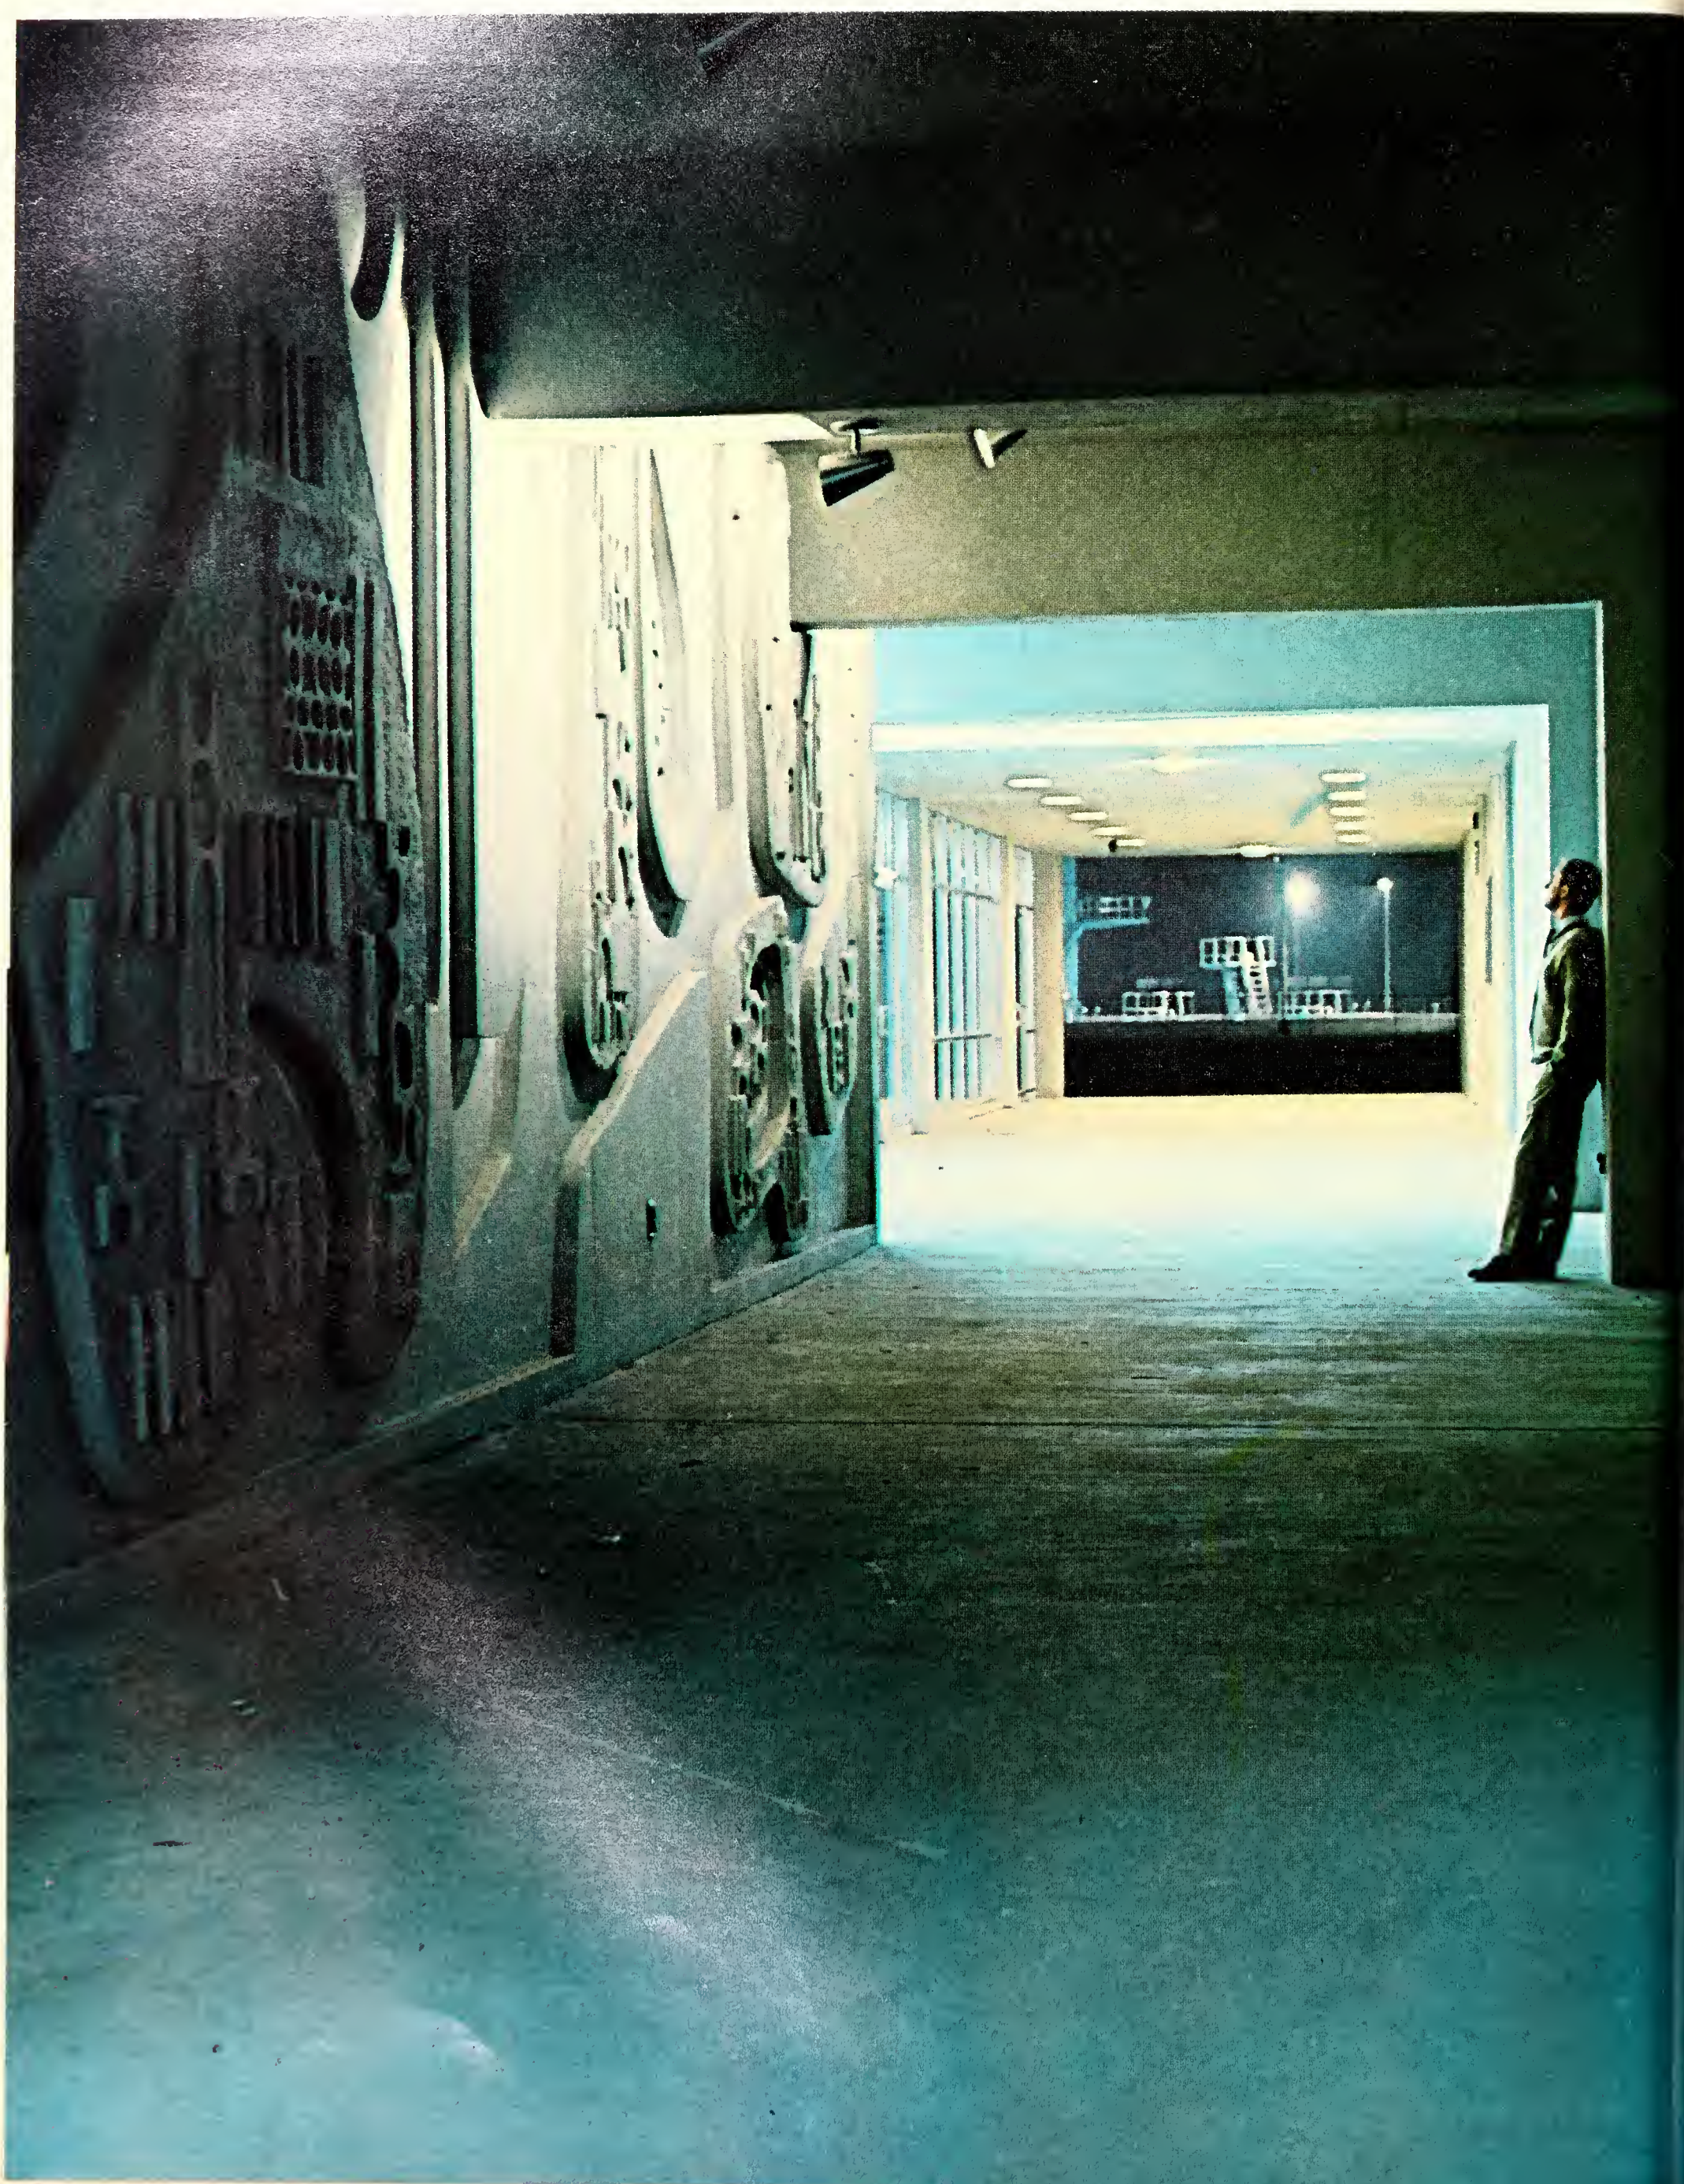


The varied activities of a university campus are strengthened through the support of a union--an organization which believes in the inherent growth obtained from healthy enjoyment of such pursuits as circus, gymnastics, student government, or football. Interest and ability combine to produce a well-rounded person, able to live in today's complex world.

MANNING
LIBRARY



Classroom studies, too, receive impetus from a union, for here, where the desire to learn is fed, ideas become manifest and are then given greater study through art displays, concerts, lectures, and practical problems in self government.



A great university has two special functions. The first is to produce a small number of scholars of the highest rank. The second is to send out into the world a very large number of men who could never achieve and who ought not try to achieve such a position of the field of scholarship, but whose energies are to be felt in every other form of activity; and who should go out from our doors with the balanced development of body, of mind, and, above all, of character, which shall fit them to do work both honorable and efficient.

Theodore Roosevelt

In Dedication

Florida State University has climbed to new heights in many fields over the past few years. A great boost to these advancements has been the exceptionally unified spirit between the FSU student body, faculty, and administration. One man has contributed greatly to this spirit. He has given untiringly of his talents to spur on accomplishments, generate interest, and promote campus activities. He has created an atmosphere in which the voice of the student is not only heard but listened to. He has helped to form a mutual admiration and respect between faculty, administration, and student body.

Recognizing that this atmosphere is basic to our American society, we dedicate the 1965 Tally Ho to departing President Gordon W. Blackwell.

AN ARDENT supporter of FSU, President Blackwell is seen often at athletic events.

Governor Haydon Burns

HAYDON BURNS
Governor
State of Florida

This generation of college graduates will set forth on their careers in the most challenging time in the history of man. Never have we possessed such an arsenal of knowledge with which to combat the continuing problems that confront humanity. With this knowledge we have both the power to create peace or to destroy our world as we know it.

As young citizens of the most powerful nation on earth, the mantle of responsibility falls on your shoulders. Assume your tasks seriously and with enthusiasm. Utilize all that you have learned at Florida State University and recognize that for intelligent people the learning process never stops. Your actions will determine the course of history for your state, your nation, and your world.

Board of Regents

The Board of Regents is the newly appointed board which is to replace the old Board of Control system in the state's university program. The new board was appointed by Governor Haydon Burns. The duties of the BOR will be very much like those of the former Board of Control.

They will advise Governor Burns and the state Legislature on such things as the financial position of the universities and suggest new programs that will improve both the educational system and the physical facilities of the schools. The new board consists of ten members from throughout the state.

Board of Control

Since the new system has been introduced, the Board of Control is no longer in operation. The purpose of the members was to plan educational programs and physical facilities of the five universities. The members had the authority to approve budgets, to improve programs of instruction for the schools, to recommend the construction of additional buildings and facilities, and to plan the forming of new universities throughout the state.

The major duties of the BOC were to report to the Florida Legislature on the financial status of the universities and to nominate deans of schools.

President Gordon Blackwell

Florida State University has been guided toward the goal of being one of the greater universities in America. One of the most exceptional leaders for this quest has been Dr. Gordon Blackwell. His determination and devotion to FSU has brought about higher standards for both the faculty and the students. The whole student body knows what a great loss Dr. Blackwell will be to our campus.

With honest interest, he has worked with the students with such organizations as Campus Chest. Dr. Blackwell has shown his concern for the student body through the Student Advisory Council made up of student leaders. Meeting in his home monthly, Dr. Blackwell and the students exchanged ideas and information concerning the student body and the administration. FSU is proud to have had such a distinguished man as president.

Each member of the administration worked to integrate and coordinate the complex academic forces. They had the jobs of guidance, unifying the students and faculty, and increasing the quality of the educational program. The policies established by the state Board of Control had to be carried out by the President through his administrators. Each student was affected in some way, whether financially, academically, or socially, by the officers comprising the administration. From the integrated efforts of the administration evolved a smoothly-operating system—the Florida State University.

Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences
Ph. D., Princeton University

The College of Arts and Sciences, embracing three major areas of liberal arts, is perhaps the most diversified college in the university. Composed of twenty-four departments, it offers a variety of possibilities for majors and minors.

Oriented toward encouraging graduate study, the College attempts to prevent specialization and to maintain a good balance in the total educational program.

Substantial support from federal agencies is partially responsible for buildings. New quarters or additions for physics, chemistry, biology, psychology, and social sciences will provide more adequate facilities, which will help assure continued high academic standards.

The strength of the College is evidenced by the high national ratings obtained by several departments. A number of professors in the College participate in research projects and writing for professional journals.

To receive a bachelor's degree from the College, the student must have fulfilled the general regulations, must have completed two years of college foreign language study or the equivalent.

School of Business

CHARLES A. ROVETTA
Dean of the School of Business
M.B.A., University of Chicago

The School of Business seeks to prepare students for positions of responsibility in business and to develop a high degree of intellectual and professional competence. A broad liberal background and a knowledge of the fundamentals in business are coordinated to form the firm foundation necessary for creative thinking and logical analysis.

Business fraternities and clubs help stimulate the students' interest in business management. They also study the public's concept of business and attempt to stimulate good public relations.

The graduate program of the school is in concordance with the university's traditional ideals of liberal education, scholarship, and service.

School of Education

The focal point of the School of Education is the preparation of students planning to serve in the teaching profession. It trains teachers, supervisors, administrators and research workers; it also serves in consultant services for the state. New research and field studies are constantly maintained to yield knowledge basic to a program of educational improvement. The School's expanding program includes development of new subject curriculum, research in coordination with the Nova School in Ft. Lauderdale, organization of reading clinics throughout the state, and aid in establishing a high school in Turkey.

The work of the School is carefully planned by departments to assure students in each area an educational background that will meet their professional and specialized subject matter needs. Special care and supervision is given to coordinate the theory presented in education courses with practice that will be used in school. Competency in the teaching field is instilled in the student, and results in a well-qualified teacher.

School of Engineering Science

GROVER L. ROGERS
Dean of the School of Engineering Science
Sc. D., Harvard University

The mission of the Engineering Science program is to educate men and women who will be able to assume leadership in research and development activities, in industry, and in the military. This is the new frontier in engineering. Emphasis is put on mathematics and the basic sciences, a broad liberal arts background, and fundamental ideas of engineering.

Engineering Science at FSU cuts across the traditional areas of conventional engineering. It recognizes no mechanical, civil, or electrical engineer as such but provides a program that will serve as an effective foundation to creative work in most areas of engineering, especially those associated with newly evolving technologies. The graduate engineer-scientist will be prepared not only to comprehend the science in engineering but also to contribute to the engineering of science.

School of Home Economics

In a society which recognizes the family as the most important resource of the nation, professional home economists are engaged in programs designed to strengthen family life. Through the application of the principles of the sciences and the arts to the problems of the home and community it is hoped that effective family living and responsible citizenship will be achieved.

Studying the chemical composition of today's fibers and the various methods of making fabric, students progress to the tailoring of fashion-right clothes. Child development is an integral part of home-making preparation, and many girls live in the Home Management House several weeks, planning and cooking their own meals and gaining general experience in running a household. The fields are varied, however, and graduates also assume positions in business, education, health welfare and research.

The Library School at Florida State was established in 1947 as a professional school. It offers courses leading to the master's degree in librarianship and, in cooperation with the College of Arts and Sciences, gives at the undergraduate level minimum training for certification as school librarians and for pre-professional positions in public libraries. The master's degree program in librarianship is accredited by the American Library Association, and the school is a member of the Association of American Library Schools.

A secondary objective of the School is to help all students develop an appreciation of the library and its role in society. This purpose is partially met by the offering of a course for freshmen in the use of libraries and courses for graduate students in library use for research.

Housed in the Strozier Library, facilities for student use include classrooms, a cataloging laboratory, student lounge, and a curriculum library.

KARL OTTO KUERSTEINER
Dean of the School of Music
Ph. D., University of Chicago

The School of Music at Florida State was founded in 1911 and is one of the largest in the nation. The way of life within the School is built upon the motto "A Program of Highest Distinction." Thus, both faculty and students are encouraged to strive for distinguished achievement in all endeavors.

As a professional school within the liberalizing context of the university, it must cope with the demands of the professional discipline as well as with the vital interests of society. Rendering some use of tutorial instruction, it works with and develops individual capacities.

In addition to administrative efforts, superiority has been achieved with the aid of modern facilities. Such facilities include a laboratory with beds, full-size human dummy, a dietetic laboratory, and other facilities. Student nurses are also provided experience in Tallahassee Memorial Hospital, W. T. Edwards Hospital, and the Florida State Hospital.

Upon graduation, a student receives the Bachelor of Science degree. Having the previous study and experience, the student then takes the State Board Examination to obtain the title of Registered Nurse. After graduation, the student has the preparation to enter any phase of clinical or hospital practice.

Field trips to inspect prison work, participation in court proceedings, actual experience in ballistic laboratories, and work with juveniles all gave valuable insight to the students in the School of Social Welfare at Florida State University.

All three departments—Law Enforcement, Social Work, and Criminology and Corrections—ranked high in the nation. The Social Welfare graduate serves in a variety of careers, such as marriage counseling, guidance work, and Boy and Girl Scout leading. Red Cross, YMCA and YWCA, juvenile counseling, and serving as parole agents and probation officers are also appropriate fields. # The Graduate School

JOHN K. FOLGER
Dean of the Graduate School
Ph. D., North Carolina

The Graduate School of Florida State University has been organized as a distinct division of the university. The primary objective of the Graduate School of Arts and Science is the training of scholars for positions of leadership, particularly in education and research. There are many concepts of the Graduate School. Here at FSU an emphasis is put upon a specialized area of study supported by a background of general education extending into the graduate program itself. An explicit concern for the ethical goals of scholarship and education is also encouraged. Students in this program have the character and values typical of responsible citizens as well as distinguished scholars. Underlying the whole program is the dedication of the students and faculty alike to the constant ideal of quality.

Research

RUSSELL J. KEIRS
Director of Research
Professor of Chemistry

Research, the activity by which new knowledge is acquired, has historically been one of the major functions of a university. Ideally, the research and teaching functions in a modern university should be inseparable. This ideal is achieved on the FSU campus in that most of the 400 research projects currently active directly involve graduate students and undergraduate assistants with a faculty member in a research experience.

On the basis of the dollars expended in its research effort, the Florida State University rates as one of the top 50 universities in the nation. This research effort is one mainly devoted to the training of graduate students and as such has put FSU in a relatively short time, into a group of 100 outstanding universities which trains most of the researchers in the United States.

In 1956 he received a Guggenheim Fellowship for his composing. The following year his opera "Susannah" opened in New York and received the famous New York Music Critics Award. The same work which won the award was also performed at the World's Fair in Brussels in 1958. Professor Floyd's most recent accomplishment is the musical work "Wuthering Heights."

Fall Is A New Beginning

FALL IS BEAUTIFUL, BUT MANY HOURS ARE SPENT STUDYING

The faces of fall at Florida State were as varied as the falling leaves that mark the season. For the freshmen fall was the excitement of moving in and the bewilderment of new classes. For all students it was the chance to make a new start at classes, the school spirit inspired by a top ranking football team, and the enthusiasm of making new friends.

Fall was the whoop of a sidewalk surfer careening toward you, the click of an opening umbrella, and the strains of the band at half-time. It was a casual stroll around campus and a renewed delight in the scenes that Nature paints.

For almost everyone fall was becoming part of FSU through activities, both extra-curricular and academic. Fall, 1964 was above all a memory which will always recall the fun and the work of college.

The fall trimester begins with the arrival of freshmen in cars packed high with precious belongings. Moving in requires many hands, and unpacking seems a tedious task, but provides an opportunity to meet a new roommate.

As the sun sets on a freshman's first day, he is welcomed to FSU by President Blackwell at the Freshman Convocation. At this meeting he is presented with the traditional rat cap.

With dawn the next morning, the freshman goes through his first registration in Tully Gym. There are lines to wait in, forms to fill out, and thousands of people. But just as his confusion reaches a peak, there is someone to point out the way. Registration is a Freshman's initiation into FSU.

Formal rush adds its excitement and activity to the already hectic first week of classes in the Fall. Greeks spend summer months planning and practicing skits, dinners, and combo parties for the rushees, and the whirl of parties begins along with registration. Sororities entertain the rushees from ice water teas to preferential parties. A less formal rush is used by fraternities, but both provide the opportunity to make many new and lasting friends.

Highlight of Fall is Homecoming, '64

"Victory and More in '64", an underlying theme of this past academic year, appropriately served as the theme for Homecoming. A gala parade through downtown Tallahassee kicked off the festivities. Colorful floats, the product of many hours of hard work by sororities and fraternities, passed in review. Booming bands, high-stepping majorettes, and visiting dignitaries added to the parade.

The Homecoming Banquet, held in the new Union ballroom, followed the parade. Helen Hayes, first lady of the theater and a special guest of the University, was tapped as an honorary member of Garnet Key. President Gordon W. Blackwell spoke on the goals of a great university to the overflow crowd of faculty, students, and returning alumni.

The traditional feather headdress of the Homecoming Queen was placed on Sue Mauger by Clyda Stokes, the 1963 Queen. The court consisted of Jan Brantley, Sheila Clarke, Dottie Kohlman, and Sally Sparks.

The Homecoming Dance featured Pete Fountain and all that jazz. The Chad Mitchell Trio added more entertainment to the festivities. Rick Powell and his orchestra, plus the Checkmates, played at a victory dance after the game Saturday night.

The "Victory and More in 64" theme for homecoming came to life on Saturday afternoon as the Seminoles demolished fifth ranked Kentucky 48-6 before 34,000 wide-eyed, screaming, unbelieving fans. The victory pushed Florida State to tenth in the national ranks and caused many a tongue to wag and mouth to gape across the country. Ecstatic fans and players had a good deal to celebrate and talk about at the victory parties and dances on the campus.

Safari! Bringing to mind visions of adventures in the steaming tropical jungles of the dark heart of Africa and ferocious beasts lurking behind bizarre vegetation, this was the theme of Gymkana 1964.

Gymkana was presented by students who wish to encourage excellence in physical education through a gymnastic program in which the unity of mind and body is stressed. Twenty fast moving acts perform to jungle rhythms against a tropical setting. The three parts of the show, internationally known gymnasts, talented students, and the nationally known Tallahassee Tumbling Tots, presented "the panther pursuit", Tarzan and Jane, "pygmie play", and other skillfully executed routines.

On the final night a court of 20 lovely co-eds were presented in costumes of jungle animals that they designed themselves. Miss Gymkana was chosen from this court on the basis of poise, personality, beauty, and her contribution to the show. Miss Marcia Haskins was selected Miss Gymkana 1964.

EL KENZ IS THE CENTER OF ACTIVITY FOR THE MEMBERS OF THE INTERNATIONAL CLUB

A medium of idea exchange for foreign and American students on campus, the International Club was the sponsor of several unique and stimulating events.

The social coffees and the International Coffee Hour lecture series were favorite ways for those who attended to develop understanding of the cultural, religious, and personal outlooks of their fellow men. Highlighting the year was the International Week, which included an exhibition and an International Musical Evening. Frequent picnics were also popular with the students, faculty, and staff that belonged to the group.

Christmas Adds Sparkle to FSU

PRESIDENT BLACKWELL and his family enjoy Christmas caroling by the students.

Christmas came early at FSU, but it was welcomed by everyone and celebrated with an enthusiasm that made the end of the trimester more enjoyable.

A tree was set up on Landis Green by APO. Here the students gathered to sing and to bring canned goods, which helped make one more White Christmas a success. Students paused from studies to trim trees in their parlors. The new Student Union was decorated with lights carrying a holiday message across campus. Many campus organizations gathered to carol to the Blackwells for the last time. They enjoyed the traditional lighting of the tree on the lawn of the President's home and the open house.

The Christmas Dance, the Women's Glee Club Vesper Service, the anticipation of both final exams and vacations—were all part of Christmas at FSU.

Christmas had come and gone, and students prepared for the second trimester with fresh spirits. Winter still controlled the weather, but the promise of Spring and new activities created new energy and enthusiasm. Early campaign plans were laid for the major student offices, and active supporters rallied to make the election a record breaking turnout. In addition to the new list of lectures and academically related activities there were events purely for enjoyment. These plus classes made the trimester full and fun for all.

The campus sings! For one sunny morning in January, the books were discarded, previous plans forgotten and the campus prepared for the annual song fest.. As the audience came into Westcott, sixteen groups anxiously awaited their chance on stage.

Campus Sing, sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota, was founded in 1948 to "foster the cause of music in America". The participants were judged on tone quality, musicianship, stage appearance and selections used.

After the two day competition, Kellum Hall placed first, for the third consecutive year, to retire the men's division trophy, Phi Kappa Tau, the only fraternity representative, was second runner-up. Alpha Delta Pi placed first in the women's division with Kappa Kappa Gamma runner-up. The Landis-Smith chorus placed first in the newly created mixed division.

Tarpon Club Presents "Encore"

"Encore", presenting the best and most popular numbers from previous years productions was performed during Family Weekend by FSU's versatile mermaids. Directing their own choreography and designing their costumes, the members displayea their aquatic skills developed during the year long planning for the show.

The minstrel number presented had recently won an excellent rating at the Regional Aquatic Arts Festival. The colorful show was highlighted by the traditional solo performance of Linda Gossett, president of Tarpon, entitled "Yearning". The minnows, new members of Tarpon, presented the only original composition, "Let Me Entertain You." The pageant of water ballet and syncronized swimming was well received by the enthusiastic audiences.

"Flying High" Circus

At college you hear so much of football, basketball, swimming and track, but at Florida State University the Circus stands far out in the scenes. This year under the directorship of Coach Jack Haskins, ably assisted by Coach Adrian (Nuchi) Catarzi, a former FSU performer, the Circus produced one of its largest and most colorful shows.

To realize the extent of this activity on campus, it is necessary to look behind the scenes of the yearly production. The performers are students, students who give up hours every day for practice, who sport bruises year round, who rig in the rain, and lose sleep on road shows. Yet they are students who enjoy one of the closest relationships of any organization on campus. Circus is their life!

Sigma Chi Derby Day, an annual event, held as much excitement for spectators as for contestants who provided the entertainment. A three-legged race, the traditional tug-of-war, a delightful key hunt in red clay, and a long distance toss with raw eggs kept the competition lively through the climax, the "secret event". This required each sorority entered to create a hair-do in lard for their entrant.

Each sorority entered a Sigma Chi pledge in the "deck-a-pledge" contest and a talent show and entered their contestant in the Sigma Chi Derby Queen contest.. The point tally showed Pi Beta Phi the winning sorority in the derby. Miss Joanne Mayers was chosen Derby Queen.

EVERY STUDENT MUST FACE THOSE LONG HOURS OF STUDYING AND CRAMMING FOR HIS EXAMS

Final Exams End First Trimester

THE LIBRARY PROVIDES UNDISTURBED STUDY

IT'S TIME TO PUT THE HOURS OF PREPARATION TO THE TEST

Exam week at FSU is ushered in by Dead Week, the appropriately named week when everyone may be found in his favorite study spot preparing for the big tests ahead. The library noticeably increases in popularity as the deadline approaches, and students exert rapidly increasing powers of concentration. Record numbers of books are checked out as themes and term papers near completion.

At last the tests themselves begin, and all the imagined worries are forgotten in the real effort to do the best possible job. Huddles of students surround the boards when the final test grades are posted in hopes that the time and effort were worth it and that they can be proud of the results.

The beginning of a lifetime of decisions was the topic of the address delivered by Arthur Stanton Adams.. Honorary degrees were bestowed upon Dr. Adams and Robert J. # Miss Tally Ho Contest

Just as FSU had a new Student Union this year, the Tally Ho had a new Miss Tally Ho contest. The contest lasted this year for one entire week during February first through the fifth. The contest was held in the Union Lounge and Moore Auditorium. The first three nights the contestants had interviews with the five judges in the Union Lounge with the help of APO. From the contestants that were sponsored by campus organizations and living units, coeds were asked to return for the final contests in Moore Auditorium. The contest was highlighted on Friday night by the First Annual Miss Tally Ho Beauty Ball.. The fifteen finalists were presented with a military escort and salute. From these Miss Tally Ho and her court were announced. The exciting and exotic music of the Checkmates made the Beauty Ball a complete success.

NEW UNION FOR 1965 TALLY HO

Encouraged by the bright new publications offices in the University Union, the 1965 Tally Ho editor and staff began in early fall to combine originality, organization, and effort toward publication of the yearbook. In the past this same enthusiasm has much success. For five consecutive years the Tally Ho has been awarded an All-American rating in the contests of the Associated Collegiate Press.

The Tally Ho was produced camera-ready in student offices, with the assistance of Publications Advisor, Mr. Grady Toler. Crowded and busy at any hour, the staff room, equipped with modern desks and drawing boards, was the gathering place for many minds and the center for development of ideas. Also developing here was the Publication Scholarship Program, which was established through the efforts of the editor, to encourage high school seniors interested in yearbook journalism to attend FSU and to join the Tally Ho staff.

Through much effort and long hours, the staff compiled and now presents to you the 1965 Tally Ho.

Flambeau Continues Daily

For the third year, the Flambeau has accomplished the seemingly impossible-that of publishing a daily newspaper. Whenever news breaks on the campus scene, a staff member from the Flambeau is there covering the event. They are assisted by photographers who provide a pictorial record of the story. Through the editorial page, students are given an opportunity to express their opinions on a wide range of subjects.

The Flambeau hits the stands about 9:00 A.M. every weekday with a varied assortment of news, features, editorials, Greeks, and student opinion columns. Under the editorship of Erik Collins, the staff works many late, hard hours trying to please the journalistic world as well as the student body.

The Flambeau was first put to press in 1914 and is Florida's first collegiate daily newspaper.

Smoke Signals Adds Humor

Smoke Signals was FSU's medium for general interest articles, as well as campus humor. This year the staff strived for a better all-around magazine by re-organizing its members and by adding original cartoon work. Creative students were urged to send their literary contributions to the Smoke Signals office where they were critically reviewed, selected, and prepared for publication.

The magazine was published five times this year—twice during each regular trimester and once during the summer trimester. In addition to poetry and photography features, it contained interviews of faculty members and student government officers, feature girls, and short stories.

The Legend is an opportunity for young writers to be read and criticized. Through it, students enjoy the writings of their contemporaries.

Coming out in April, the Legend is a collection of poems, essays, and short stories by and for Florida State students. This year for the first time, art work was included in the anthology.

To stir interest among the students, cash awards for the best contributions are presented by Panhellenic and IFC. The Legend is a collection of student literature, creating an epic of young thought, serious thought within a history of growth and progress, and joining its youth with the vibrant expectations of our new University Union Complex.

Serving as the student's first introduction to college life, the Pow Wow made its traditional appearance during Orientation Week in the fall. Aside from acquainting the student with FSU and its traditions, the handbook also gave information about organizations, publications, student government, athletics, Greeks, student services, and activities. The new University Union complex--its buildings and its organizations--provided an additional new section in the handbook.

University rules and regulations, along with the Florida State Student Body Constitution, were found in the handbook, which served to guide students in the Seminole way of life.

Three members of the faculty and five members of the student body composed the Board of Publications. Of these, the faculty members were appointed by the President of the University, three of the students were elected by the student body, and the other two were appointed by the President of the student body. Editors are ex-officio members of the Board.

The Board of Publications coordinated all of the activities of the various university publications, formulated the policies by which they were operated, and elected their editors. In the spring a retreat was held at the Reservation for the purpose of training new staff members for the various publications.

Top Officers Lead Students

Student Government continued to provide efficient and outstanding service to the FSU student body during 1964-'65--a year climaxed by the completion of the new Union Complex. One of the most outstanding projects during the year was the Student Enterprises, Inc., the only non-profit organization of its kind. The corporation contributed $50,000 toward the construction of the new olympic swimming pool, and it is now planning for the erection of a permanent circus building.

Through Student Government's faculty evaluation project, students were able, for the first time, to evaluate the effectiveness of their professors.

Communications with the students and legislators improved during the year. Students were informed of Student Government activities through a daily column in the Flambeau, a monthly newsletter, and a weekly radio program.

In addition, the familiar homecoming wdekend, family wdekend, and student insurance program were again sponsored by Student Government.

Student Advisory Council

PRESIDENT BLACKWELL and Dean Day talk with FSU student leaders.

The Student Advisory Council was initiated under the direction of former FSU President Robert M. Strozier in 1957. The Council's purpose was to promote a better student-faculty relationship on campus.. The Council, composed of the student leaders of the major organizations at FSU, met monthly with President Blackwell and the Dean of Students, Harry Day.

At these meeting the students were free to express any complaints, make suggestions, or simply air their views of campus life in general. President Blackwell and Dean Day, representing the faculty, could in turn present their views on similar matters. In this manner, the students could make known their wishes which might influence the university's policy; however, the meetings were informal and bore no commitments of action to either side.

Student Senate constituted the legislative branch of Student Government. The four senators from each class and one from each precinct were elected in the fall elections. The entire Senate was composed of 45 senators and a secretary. Men's and women's Senates met separately, with the whole group convening each week to make and change laws then subject to faculty review. The Student Body Vice-President presided over each weekly meeting. At meetings of Women's and Men's Senate, the Women's and Men's Vice-Presidents presided.

Honor Court

HINES BOYD
Chief Justice

Holding a tremendous responsibility, the Honor Court is the highest court at Florida State. Cases involving cheating, lying, stealing, and plagarism are tried by this court. The court also has jurisdiction over cases of impeachments, questions of the Constitutionality of the Student Body Constitution and Statutes, and cases appealed from lower courts. All decisions of the Honor Court are subject to review by the Faculty Review Committee and the President of the University.

The chief justice, a senior with previous court experience, is elected by the student body and presides over all sessions. The court is composed of a clerk and eight justices, elected from the junior and senior classes.

An Honor Week, stressing the importance of an honor code was held during the spring trimester. The court members spoke to various campus organizations and living groups on the honor system.

Judiciary

Cases of infractions of university rules are heard by the two branches of the University Court, which are Men's and Women's Judiciary. They consist of nine men and nine women respectively, and six members are elected by the students from each of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

When trying offenses in which both women and men students are involved, both branches of the court meet together to rule on violations that are not under the jurisdiction of the Traffic Court, Off-Campus Court, or dormitory house councils.

TRAFFIC COURT: Beverly Bridges, George Noga, Dave Cameron, TimmieDutcher, Jerry Levins, Mary Kent Bonar.

Traffic Court

Functioning as a court of appeals, Traffic Court worked in cooperation with the campus policemen in matters of University traffic violations. Traffic Court's jurisdiction extended only to undergraduate members of the University who owned cars on campus or in Tallahassee. Students had the right to appeal a ticket if they felt that it had been given unfairly. The Court then either acquitted the student, cut his fine in half, or pronounced him guilty of the violation.

The Court was comprised of two members from the sophomore and junior classes, and a chairman. The students were elected in the spring.

Off-Campus Court

Scholarship, foundation, and sorority houses are under the jurisdiction of Off-Campus Court. The Court functions as a house council for these off-campus women's residences, and minor offences are tried bi-monthly when court convenes. Appropriate sentences are given, and occasionally an offender may be referred to Judiciary.

Members of Off-Campus Court come from nineteen precincts, and membership is a rotating job within the precinct. House Chairman or House President is usually the delegate, with precinct delegates serving for one school year.

Class Officers Work Together

The Inner-Class Council, which is composed of the officers from each of the four classes , served a vital need in the students' appreciation of their respective classes and the University itself. This year ICC helped to indoctrinate the new freshmen into Rat Week, took an active part in all of the functioning Homecoming committees, and was responsible for the nomination and final selection of the honored thirty-six students who were chosed for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." At the close of the first trimester, ICC and the Program Council presented a Farewell Tea for President and Mrs. Blackwell. A Christmas caroling party followed at the Blackwell's home, and a record number of over 1,000 students came to join in the singing.

As the freshman women arrive in a world of new and mysterious ways of college life the "JC" is there to help make the adjustment a little easier and a little faster. As the student advisor helps the new freshman become the seasoned students out of which sophomores are made I she gains just a little insight into human nature and learns just a little more about herself through the process.

Lab Is Asset To Publications

The Student Publications Lab was established in 1959 for the purpose of expediting the publishing of student publications and reducing their cost. The Florida Flambeau, Smoke Signals, Tally Ho and Legend transfer money to the Lab in order that the Lab may finance its operation. The Lab, in return, provides composition, camera-ready copy and printing advice to each of the publications.

The original plans for the Lab required two full-time staff employees and three student assistants who were interested in obtaining knowledge of the pre-printing processes of photolithography. At the present time, the Lab employs four full-time staff employees and five student assistants.. Due to the initiation of a Student Publications Photographic Service in the Fall of 1965, additional funds from student publications will be added to their transfer funds in order that photographers may be paid by the Lab. This additional fiscal responsibility will enable the Lab to increase its number of student assistant employees to a total of ten students.

In the words of Mr. Grady Toler, Production Manager of the Student Publications Laboratory, "with a growing university, a student service is a necessity -- this is our business." The Lab also provides a service for inter-departmental agencies.

The Student Publication Lab, located on the third floor of the University Union, consists of three offices. In Room 318, students are able to have mimeograph work done and signs made for a nominal charge; Room 314 is used for layout and paste-up of all camera-ready copy; Room 320 houses the composing machines used to set copy for publications.

Not only does the Publications Lab help in publishing the four main student publications, but it is also equipped to give assistance to campus organizations in their own publishing problems.

The Lab has served the students of Florida State for six years and its aim has been to give fast, efficient service.

From all indications, the Student Publication Lab at Florida State is the only one of its kind in the nation.

Union Opens With Activities Night

Activities Night served as an introduction both to the Union and to all of FSU's activities. The 55 groups with displays had the opportunity to explain their functions and to recruit members. Featured during the evening was a dance to the music of the Checkmates and a scoreboard that kept sports fans up to date on the Miami-FSU game, FSU's first football victory of the year. In addition, the recreation building was opened officially for bowling and billiards. Plans are now under consideration to include tours of the entire Union complex and to make Activities Night an annual affair.

Union Dedication

On November 14, 1964, the dedication of the $2.4 million Florida State University Union complex and its adjacent $305,000 olympic size swimming pool brought to realization a dream shared by students, alumni, faculty, and administration of FSU. Former Governor LeRoy Collins presented the keynote address in Moore Auditorium. Governor Farris Bryant presented the Union complex, which was officially accepted for the University by President Gordon Blackwell and for the Board of Control by Dr. Wayne C. McCall. President emeritus of FSU, Dr. Doak S. Campbell, was also on the program at the dedication ceremonies, with Rev. C. A. Roberts, of the Tallahassee First Baptist Church, giving the invocation and benediction. During the ceremonies, the Union Recreation Area and Auditorium were named in memory of Robert E. Crenshaw and Coyle E. Moore, Jr., respectively. The Food Services building was named in honor of Helen Morris Davis.

MISS MARIE WILLIAMS
Program Director

Dr. Reid Montgomery, Director of the Union, served also as Director of Student Activities and Advisor to Student Publications. As a member of the Union Board, he was responsible for all Union policies, budget making, and future Union planning. Dr. Herb Reinhard, as Assistant Director, was responsible for the daily operation of the Union and served as the liason between the Union administration and other agencies within the Union complex. He also served in an advisory capacity to the office of Social Events and the new Student Artist Series Committee. Business manager, Mr. Archie Kramer, took charge of budget auditing, purchasing, and maintenance of the complex. Miss Jane Adams, the Night Assistant to the Director, oversaw Union operation during evening hours and was responsible for all the night student supervisors. Program Director, Miss Marie Williams, was accountable for programs and activities sponsored by the Union Program Council and also served as an advisor to the Inter-Class Council.

University Union Board

The University Union Board is the governing body of the Florida State University Union. The Board consists of eight student members and five non-student members, individually appointed by outgoing board members, the student body president, student body elections, and the president of the university. The entire Board elects the student chairman.

The Union Board operated the Union during its initial year to provide a cultural, social, and recreational program for students. It promoted the use of Union facilities for the benefit of the student body and also created and maintained necessary house rules. Another function of the Board was to negotiate with the Union management in regard to student wishes on operation of the Union.

Program Council

The Program Council is a set of committees developed to organize and conduct activities of the Union Board. These committees worked with the Program Director and other administrative personnel of the Union. The Exhibits Committee presented displays on watercolors, space, fashion design, and other topics of interest to students. Outstanding lecturers and noted concert musicians were brought to the FSU campus by the Literature and Music Committees, while the Film Committee was kept busy featuring three weekly film series. Projects of various other committees included the ACU Regional Conference, Legislative Day, and Activities Night.

Recreation

The Recreation Committee has been active in many functions within the Union. The main project of the committee was the Association of College Unions Tournament of region six. Twenty-five schools from four states were represented, and all tournament contestants were of amateur status. The Recreation Committee was the coordinating body of the tournament and organizer of the service fraternities and sororities involved. The group was also active in obtaining the judges, scorers, and runners, and in scheduling the tournament events. Various other activities, such as fencing lessons, chess tournaments, and bowling events, were planned.

Faculty - Student Relations

The purpose of the Informal Entertaining-Faculty Relations Committee is the promotion of better out-of-class relations between students and faculty. To introduce the new Union, the committee sponsored the Union Open House, which featured displays from each school within the university. Along with the Inter-Class Council, the group organized a social for the Blackwells, to which faculty, student leaders, and administration were invited. The Campus Conversation, a panel discussion, was also planned by this committee. The panel of two faculty members and two students discussed the advantages and values of basic division courses. Also featured was a reception for Juan Mercadel, noted guitarist, who performed on the Florida State campus.

FACULTY-STUDENT RELATIONS COMMITTEE: Jeanie Williamson, Lou McCall, Judy O'Connell, Pam Thomas, Gay Yates, Andy Hill, Jim Zellner, Sharon Mixon, Carol Van Sant, Gene White, Martha Free.

HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE: Carl Domino, Jan Walker (chairman), Katy Warren, Bruce Miller, Don Issacs, Becky Peacock.

Hospitality

As official hosts and hostesses of the University Union, the Hospitality Committee had many functions. During the year the committee cooperated with the Program Council in presenting two open houses, one for students and the other for faculty, staff, and Tallahasseans. These open houses, featuring displays, films, a variety show, tours, and receptions, were held to acquaint all with the new Union. Members of this committee have acted as hosts and hostesses on many occasions: tours, including convention delegates and Peruvian students; receptions for Union functions and the Scholarship House Convocation; ticket sellers and hostesses for dances; and hosts and hostesses at two conventions of the Association of College Unions-International at FSU.

MALCOLM DAVIE, Scottish performer, entertains for Florida State students.

Music

The purpose of the Union Music Committee is to make available to Florida State students, faculty, and staff a variety of musical entertainment. With this purpose in mind the committee has sponsored classical guitarist Juan Mercadel, Scottish bagpiper Malcolm Davie, the variety show for the Union Open House, Si Zentner and his band, and coffee concerts. In addition to these special events, the Music Committee provided librettos for the Saturday afternoon Metropolitan Opera Series and catalogued the record collection used in the listening rooms. Another project was a variety show to be made an annual tradition. This show would provide talented students with the opportunity to entertain, regardless of their previous experience.

Dance-Social

Formal and informal dances on campus are arranged by the Dance-Social Committee. Pete Fountain and his band appeared at the Homecoming dance. Also during the year, thirteen paid admission and ten free juke box dances were held, while participation in folk and square dances was high in the summer months. Co-chairmen of the committee, Mary Lou Romeka and Ginger Harrison, relied heavily on the efforts of Gamma Sigma Sigma, Alpha Phi Omega, and Freshman Flunkies to make their dances successful. These service organizations on campus helped by acting as hosts and hostesses at the dances and by publicizing them with posters.

THE STUDENT UNION is used for many of the semi-formal dances that are put on by the dance committee during the year.

PETE FOUNTAIN of New Orleans plays for students during Homecoming.

Special Events

The Special Events Committee coordinated programs for the Union throughout the year. At Halloween and Christmas, holiday dances were planned by the committee in cooperation with the Dance-Social Committee. At Thanksgiving the group planned the Thanksgiving Vesper Service, which was held on campus, with Dr. C. A. Roberts of the First Baptist Church of Tallahassee as the speaker. Second trimester the awards banquet for the ACU Regional Games Tournament and a Union Recognition Night Banquet were products of the committee's endeavor.

Film

The newly formed University Union Film Committee was responsible for three campus film series--the Campus Movie, the Classic Film and the Little Seminole Series. It is the purpose of the UUFC to bring to this campus the finest films available both in the category of cinema as an art form and also as an entertainment medium. On January 1, 1965, the FSU Film Committee became a member of the American Federation of Film Societies. Through this membership the committee was affiliated with the International Federation of Film Societies with headquarters in Paris, France.

Exhibits

World famous exhibits were displayed at Florida State through efforts made by the Exhibits Committee. The NASA exhibit, which consisted of actual pictures of space flights, appeared for the first time in Florida on the FSU campus, and the Kohn and Pochner exhibits, abstracts from the Ringling Art Museum, also appeared in a Union display. The FSU gallery opened with exhibits from the FSU art and art education departments. Smaller displays were furnished by local townspeople and students. These included fashions of yesterday, John Shaw's collection of Alice in Wonderland, and the Florida State Sports Exposition.

Secretarial

The members of the Secretarial Committee served as a pool of voluntary helpers who assisted in clerical responsibilities of the Program Council. The girls took the regular minutes at each Program Council meeting and sent a copy of the minutes to each member. Cooperating with the Publicity Committee, the Secretarial Committee sent out an information sheet concerning positions on the Program Council for the following year. The group kept the Program Council files organized and kept an index of council members. This committee also made studies of student personnel, compiled reports, and engaged in other research-type activities.

Publicity

The Publicity Committee handles the promotion for the Union and its varied program activities. Last year it was responsible for having Florida State activities publicized on educational TV throughout the state. Guest speakers on campus had the opportunity to speak on the local and campus television stations through the auspices of the committee. Articles and pictures were featured in the Flambeau and the Tallahassee Democrat. The publicity highlight of the year was the appearance of stories on Activities Night and the ACU Region Six Conference and Games Tournament in the ACU National Bulletin. The committee also provided Union posters.

THE FORUM GIVES THE STUDENTS A CHANCE TO EXCHANGE IDEAS

Forum

The purpose of the Forum Committee is to arrange discussions on current events. The committee presented "The World Around Us Series," consisting of three lecture programs entitled "Timeless Turkey" by Dr. Arthur Dewey; "Into Siberia" by Dr. Raphael Green; and "The Arab World" by Margaret Baker. Thubten Jigme Norbu, brother of the Dalai Lama of Tibet, was presented in a lecture and film program on his escape from Communists in Tibet. Tran Van Dinh, acting ambassador from South Viet Nam, was also featured, and FSU government professor, Dr. Peter Ch'en, spoke on American-Chinese relations.

JULIE HAYDON AND Mark Van Doren read for the literature committee.

Literature

It was the purpose of the Literature Committee to arrange book reviews, poetry reading, preparation of dramatic programs, and other creative literary productions. This year Mark Van Doren read excerpts from his Pulitzer Prize winning poetry. Also a noted playwright, his plays, "Never Never Ask His Name" and "The Last Days of Lincoln" were premiered on the FSU campus. Broadway actress Miss Julie Haydon, did readings from several of her plays, including "The Glass Menagerie." Mr. Fallon, director of Florida State's theatre, worked with Miss Haydon during her performance.

Last Lecture Series

EDGAR H. HENDERSON
Professor of Philosophy

As in the past Mortar Board chose outstanding FSU professors to speak in their Last Lecture Series. The thoughts expressed were those which the lecturers would choose to leave with us if this were their last opportunity to speak before a group. This idea of speaking for the last time before a group was thought provoking for the listener as well as the lecturers. The subjects ranged from English and philosophy, to music. Some were humorous; others serious. All were interesting and entertaining.

Speakers from the University Lecture Series were chosen by a faculty-student committee. These lecturers were not faculty members and thus gave the students an opportunity to hear other outstanding personalities from other walks of life. The speakers' concepts and beliefs may not have all been accepted by the students but it gave them a good opportunity to broaden their outlook on life and the world in general. We were fortunate to have two world known lecturers share their experiences and knowledge with us this year. David Schoenbrun, a world traveling news commentator, who has interviewed people such as Eisenhower, Kennedy and DeGaulle. Dr. C. C. Price is also an outstanding personality. He is best known for his work in chemistry.

Religion In Life Series

HAROLD McPHERSON

REVEREND MALCOLM BOYD

The annual Religion In Life Series has been sponsored by the University Committee on Religious Affairs and the University Broadcasting Services for several years at FSU. Two nationally renowned personalities were brought to the FSU campus this year for the event. These men presented a series of lectures which were accompanied by faculty luncheons and informal coffee hour discussions. The first series, "Ethics and Politics," was presented by Harold McPherson. Mr. McPherson drew from his own experiences in government work to illustrate his comments. The second series, "The Challenge of Communication," dealt with the problems and possibilities of mass communication, particularly television and movies. Reverend Malcolm Boyd, playwright, freedom rider, and chaplain-at-large to college campuses, gave some practical suggestions which were applicable to our modern society. He also raised several thought-provoking questions.

The Artist Series season opened with the Raduga Dancers, a troupe of performers drawn from Russia's top ballet companies. Seen as a full spectrum of Soviet dance, the artists presented excerpts from both classical and folk dances of Russia. Colorful costumes and vibrant music accentuated the spirit and skill of the versatile dancers.

Spoon River Anthology

Starkness and shadows characterized the lives of the Spoon River inhabitants "sleeping on the hill". The characters came alive through the skillful monologues of Barbara Gilbert, Carl Esser, Linda Seff, and William Severs. These four actors portrayed the many diverse personalities of Edgar Lee Masters' Spoon River Anthology with equal ease. They were musically supported by two accompanying guitarists, Gil Turner and Marilyn Child.

Jean Langlais

Jean Langlais, blind organist and composer from the Basilica of Saint Clotilde in Paris, performed at FSU during his sixth tour of the United States. The outstanding French organist chose several selections from the works of well-known French composers as well as some of his own compositions to present in an inspiring concert. As a result of his extraordinary talent, Mr. Langlais has become one of the most popular contemporary artists.

November 5

The Dallas Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Donald Johanos, appeared at FSU during spring trimester. The superb performance opened with an Overture by Haydn, followed by a work of Rachmaninov's which featured Ivan Davis, solo concert pianist. The second half of the program included works by two contemporary composers: Gunther Schuller and Igor Stravinsky. The performance concluded with Stravinsky's "Firebird" Suite.

San Francisco Ballet

The San Francisco Ballet brought two different aspects of ballet to the FSU campus. The music of Dave Brubeck set the mood for the opening performance, "The Set," which was an example of modern dance. A translucent screen and the music of Paul Hindemith provided the background for the second contemporary dance, "Shadows." The concluding part of the program featured individual and group performances in the classic ballet style.

Beyond the Fringe

March 3

Four actors in twenty-three short skits were the essence of the hilarious "Beyond the Fringe." Using only one stage setting and an occasional prop, these actors satirized many facets of modern society. Politics, current events, history, and public figures were a few of the many subjects touched upon in the skits. Each actor played several diversified roles with only seconds between routines to change character and mood.

Branko Krsmanovich Chorus

The Branko Krsmanovich Chorus presented the final Artist Series event of the year for FSU students. The group consisted of eighty talented a cappella singers. During the first half of the evening, the artists performed classic and romantic works of master composers. Dressed in the authentic costumes of their homeland, with an ensemble of native instruments, the singers climaxed the program with folk and contemporary music.

Second trimester, Carlos Montoya, flamenco guitarist, gave musical interpretations of Spanish culture. The students responded to his skillful presentation of this old-world technique. Ferrante and Teicher, renowned duo-pianists, presented a program consisting of movie themes, original compositions, and lively renditions. In February, the Student Artist Series Committee announced that two more "big name" shows had been contracted for the month of March. # A Man for All Seasons

Religious strife in sixteenth century England set the scene for Robert Bolt's A Man for All Seasons. Hoping for a break with the Catholic Church, Henry VIII sought to gain the support of an important advisor, Sir Thomas More (Al Smelko). Steadfast in his convictions, More was willing to sacrifice his life rather than yield to the demands of the King. In staging the performance, Director Richard Fallon employed such unique devices as fake scenery and props dropped from the top of the stage. In order to allow the audience to relate themselves more directly to the play, Mr. Bolt created the character, Common Man, (Grant Kilpatrick) who revealed the message of the production.

October 21 - 25

Antigone

Though first given in historic Athens, Sophocles' Antigone, a Greek tragedy, has always been considered pertinent to modern times. It dealt not only with man's governmental struggle, but also showed man's rebellion against unjustifiable civil laws. Antigone, played by Martha Meyer, was sentenced to die when she provided a hero's burial for her brother. This brother had been declared an enemy by Creon, Al Smelko, for his part in a war concerning the political control of Thebes. The ill-fated events that followed Creon's decision exemplified the importance that should be placed on making decisions. The conflict between moral and civil law was paramount then as now. Director Arthur R. Dorlag used a traditional Greek Chorus so that the audience might experience an ancient Greek effect.

February 17 - 21

Cherry Orchard

Having no basic plot, Chekhov's Cherry Orchard showed to its audience the way of life as is viewed by all today. The play's purpose was to show that life is composed of different people who each have in common "the solitude of his being." Because the play presented many moods, each member of the cast was required to perform several characterizations.

Making its world premiere, M. Van Doren's play, Never, Never Ask His Name featured guest star, Miss Julie Haydon. Set in 1840 New England, the play's action revolved around two families whose friendship was lost when the son of Elizabeth and Nathan Hard, portrayed by Julie Haydon and Al Smelko, was killed Through a song sung by Dinah, the demented daughter of the other family, it was disclosed to the Hards that their son was the father of Dinah's illegitimate child and that Dinah's father was the murderer of their son. Friendship between both of the families was renewed when the truth was told.

SIDNEY BUCKLEY CONTEMPLATES HIS SORROW.

In the prologue of I Pagliacci, State Opera Association production, Tonio the Fool (Sidney Buckley) reminded the audience that motley actors also suffer sorrow. The following drama of love triangles revealed the truth of this revelation. After being scorend by Canio's (Clinton Nichols) wife, Nedda (Ethel Donaldson), both Tonio and Nedda were stabbed by Canio. In grief, "The comedy is ended."

During spring trimester, the music school presented Les Contes d'Hoffman, or The Tales of Hoffman, by Offenbach. A wine cellar in Nuremberg set the stage for the prologue in which Hoffman (Larry Dorminy) told of his tragic past experience with love affairs. The following three acts were flashbacks, each concerning one of Hoffman's three loves: Olympia (Gail Brown), Antonia (Virginia Alonso), and Giulietta (Terry Schreckengost). Hoffman's final defeat was the loss of his fourth love, Stella.

Evening of Dance

The Theater Dance Group culminated six months of drill and hard practice with their annual concert, "An Evening of Dance." Composed of dance majors and volunteer students, the group was under the direction of Dr. Nancy Smith. The 1965 presentation consisted of four programs, beginning with "Etudes," a dance about dancing itself. "The Mathematician" and "Incomputilation" composed the second part of the show, followed by "Four Excursions." The concert closed with "Journey," a voyage of a mother and her daughters "into the landscape of remembrance."

FSU Debate Team

FSU has had an active debate squad for the past seventeen years. In '64-'65, under the leadership of director, Dr. Thomas R. King and assistant director, Mike Cornett, the debate team won 62% of their debates. Twenty students, only 10% of whom were speech majors, participated in eleven tournaments with other major universities. The national debate topic for this year was: Resolved that the federal government should establish a national program of public work for the unemployed. This topic was decided upon by the Speech Association of America, committee on discussion and debate. Several of the debaters, both graduate and undergraduate, belonged to the national honorary, Delta Sigma Rho—Tau Kappa Alpha. The debate team is open to all.

Music Program

The School of Music at FSU has been an accredited member of the National Association of Schools of Music since 1930. This year, as in the past, the phrase "A Program of Highest Distinction" was the goal of the forty faculty members and hundreds of students associated with the school. The music school program provided not only degree programs for music majors, but many extra-curricular activities which were performed for the enjoyment of FSU students and Tallahassee residents as well. Included in this versified program were: University Singers, Symphonic Band, Glee Club, Choral Union, individual faculty and student recitals, and performances by artists other than those at FSU. The Opera Guild and Symphony Orchestra were authorized by the 1963 legislature to become the State Symphony of Florida and the State Opera Association. The Marching Chiefs formed another facet of the widely varied music program. Over 200 performances were given under the direction of the School of Music which is headed by Dr. Karl Otto Kuersteiner.

Greek Week...

Sponsored by Florida State's Panhellenic and Inter-Fraternity Council, Greek Week began to roll with much interest.

Monday night, chapter meetings were held with alumni observing. Scholarship was emphasized by faculty members as they spoke at sorority and fraternity houses the following night. Exchange dinners were held Wednesday between Greek houses. Greeks and Independents went on the warpath Thursday at a huge pep rally led by a representative tribe of the Seminole-Greek Nation. The Greek Week Dance climaxed the busy week by the crowning of the Greek Goddess, presentation of Greek Man and Woman of the Year, and awarding of the Inter-Fraternity Council scholarship trophy for the year 1964-65.

THE SORORITIES OF PANHELLENIC JOIN WITH THE FRATERNITIES FOR A DERBY

SORORITIES ENJOY MANY SOCIALS WITH THE FRATERNITIES

Organizing a new point system for sorority activities in fraternity sponsored events was one of the major tasks that Panhellenic accomplished this past year. Each event, such as the Sigma Chi Derby, was assigned a certain number of points. A sorority could participate in dnough events to equal the fifteen allowed points. The purpose of this new system was so that more stress could be placed on scholarship. This year, as in past years, the sorority average was higher than the student body and the women's over-all average.

Panhellenic Council is composed of the Panhellenic representative and President of each sorority on campus. The council strives to bring the sororities together in one unified group, and to promote relations between Greeks and Independents. Perhaps the last few words of the Panhellenic creed best say what Panhellenic and the whole Greek system stands for. "To us, fraternity is not only the enjoyment of special privileges, but an opportunity to prepare for wide and human services."

One of the major events of the fall was the rip roaring Western Weekend; during the festivities, Don Wilcox, was named "Favorite Guy of Alpha Chi".

To be well-rounded the Alpha Chi's put a great deal of emphasis on scholarship. A scholarship banquet was held each trimester and those who did well were served steak, while the fallen angels were given beans. Long study hall hours and the threat of beans for dinner paid off as Alpha Chi Omega was awarded first place in campus scholarship.

THE ALPHA CHI'S go all out in decorating their house for the coming weekend of Circus.

THE ADPI'S selected Ray Schroder as their "King of Diamonds" for this year.

The girls of Iota Chapter concentrated somewhat this year on community service projects. Each week Alpha Delta Pi's visited the Tallahassee Convalescent Home, and once the entire chapter sponsored a party at W. T. Edwards Tuberculosis Hospital. More recently, Iota adopted two girls from Sunnyland Child-care Center. Due to the success of these projects, the ADPi's were extremely pround to be the recipients of the annual Phi Mu Social Service Award this year at Florida State.

Still, the girls of ADPi did not neglect their social activities. Among the events they enjoyed were the annual Christmas party with entertainment provided by the pledges, and the fall weekend where Ray Schroeder was named ADPi King of Diamonds.

Celebrating their fortieth year on the Florida State campus, the Alpha Gam's bounded back to school full of excitingly new ideas and spirit for this year.

Activities galore, the members of Gamma Beta excelled in student government, leadership and service honoraries. Halloween found the Alpha Gam's bobbing for apples at a party they sponsored for mentally retarded children. The Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae were honored at the annual Christmas alumnae party. The Alpha Gam's also celebrated, with pride, their International Reunion Day. Looking back at what they have accomplished this year by working hard together, the Alpha Gamma Delta's look forward to another great year with the sorority and out on the campus of Florida State University.

Keeping busy seems to be the goal of every sorority woman and the sisters of Alpha Omicron Pi are no exception. Variety is the best word to describe their many activities. Halloween and Easter both brought parties to the children of the Candle of Hope School. On Saturdays, the AOPi's worked at the Candle of Hope School and donated five hundred dollars to the school from the money they received from the AOPi Carnival. Circus time found the AOPi's taking thirteen underprivileged children to the big top. Each spring, the AOPi's hold an open house and this year the "Ghouls" supplied the music. The "Italian Affair" pledge dinner was a a great success and another great year ended for the Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority at Florida State.

Full of fun and spirit, Alpha Xi Delta plunged into a busy rush season. With the addition of their enthusiastic pledges, Alpha Xi embarked upon a new year of sisterhood and service.

This year Alpha Xi placed fourth among the sororities in scholastic achievement. Circus time not only brought thrills and excitement, but also first place to Alpha Xi for their house decorations. Closness and sisterhood is a most important factor in the life of any social fraternity and pledge-active parties and meetings accomplished this goal. Joining in for the fun of the Sigma Chi Derby and the Soap Box Derby, the Alpha Xi's completed another very successful year at Florida State.

Chi Omega

A tawny gray owl, cardinal and straw, and a tiny gold pin set with pearls...these are among the things than mean so much to Chi Omega's. This past season was an enriching one for Chi O. In the summer a national convention was held at the Greenbriar Hotel in West Virginia, and Chi Omega's from all over the United States met, exchanged ideas, and developed new friendships. The Gamma's who attended the convention returned full of enthusiasm and news for those who stayed at home.

Gamma Chapter was involved in social activities as well as in service ones. The girls were awarded the first PiKA Cane-Snatching trophy. However, the main emphasis was upon service. The Chi O's once again awarded their Social Science Prize in the spring, and at Easter gave a party at the Chi O house for the foster children of Tallahassee.

MISS BEVERLY KLEPP

The Alpha Eta Chapter of Delta Delta Delta has again enjoyed a versatile and active year on the Florida State campus. The many honors that the Tri Delta's have received include placing among the top three sororities in scholarship, Campus Sing, and Sigma Chi Derby. With the help of the Phi Delt's, the Tri Delta's won the award for the "Most Original" Homecoming float. Throughout the year the sisters celebrated various occasions. Thanksgiving Eve brought Founder's Day and Christmas brought Santa, in addition to the annual Mother-Daughter party. In spite of participating in so many activities, the Tri Delta's did not neglect service. They again presented a $100 scholarship to an outstanding woman student on campus.

The anchor-clankers have had an exceptionally busy season this year. For the second consecutive year the DG's won the best all-round float award at homecoming, and they were awarded first place for the parodies in the annual Pow-Wow. In the latter part of October, the DG's enjoyed their "Raunchy Ranch" weekend at Silver Lake.

All the hard long hours of study hall first trimester finally paid off when the Delta Gammas won the most improved scholarship trophy. Besides all of the study, much time was spent working locally at the Tallahassee Junior Museum. The Delta Gammas also kept up with their national project of helping blind students. Each sorority member donated her time to read to the blind.

Since establishment on F.S.U.'s campus in 1924, Delta Zeta sorority has been continually active in campus affairs. The past year proved to be no exception. Chapter activities included the annual dinner honoring the freshman football team, and Sigma Chi Derby Day, in which the DZ's emerged in a victorious third place. In community service the sorority, with their alumnae chapter worked to purchase a hearing aid for an underprivileged child. Traditional events were the western style pledge dinner, and the Pledge-Active Sports Day, complete with relay races and other games. The DZ's enjoyed their social weekend in the fall at Silver Lake, and their spring get-together at the Florida State Reservation.

THERE IS ALWAYS time for Santa to visit during Christmas, even if it is right in the middle of exams.

The Gamma Phi Beta's began this year with a happy event when the girls moved into their beautiful new house on West Jefferson Street. Since that time, the year has been filled with activities, fun, and scholarship. A "Tom Jones" dinner was the annual pledge project for which the pledges decorated the house, and wore Tom Jones outfits.

The highlight of the year was a Gamma Phi Province Conference held in March. Alumnae and active members from all over the southeast came to Tallahassee to solve problems and exchange ideas. The remainder of the spring was occupied with elections, socials, community projects, the Sigma Chi Derby, and the Phi Delt Soapbox Derby.

"Ring out three cheers for Theta" could be heard in the areas of service, scholarship and activities. Working with the Tallahassee Jaycees, Thetas were found promoting Fire Prevention Week, United Nations Day, and Get Out to Vote Campaign. Studying, too, had its place in the Kappa Alpha Theta house, with the honor of placing second in Panhellenic scholarship coming to the Thetas. Traditional activities with the new pledges involved matching hats to identify their new "moms", and kite-flying preceding initiation. The Soapbox Derby and Sigma Chi Derby brought more trophies to the Theta house. Spring saw the Theta-Pi Phi party and a picnic at McClay (Killearn) Gardens filling the social calendar. The climax to a great year for the Thetas was receiving the award of Outstanding Sorority of the Year.

Kappa Delta

The pace of whirling activities begun by the Kappa Delta's during rush week did not slow once, and the hours of work and pleasure, the seriousness, the gaiety have all paid off this year. With the pledge class placing first in scholarship, the Kappa Delta's rallied round and came up in second place among sorority intramurals. Circus Weekend not only brought an exciting highlight to the campus, but also second place to Kappa Delta for house decorations. Social service projects this past year included caroling at a local convalescent home. The KD's also enjoyed stuffing puppets for the children's ward of Tallahassee Memorial Hospital as much as the children enjoyed receiving them. With these and other memories, the year ended for Kappa Delta and plans began for the new year to come.

WITH A GRUNT AND A MOAN, the Kappa Delta girls really put their back into the annual Sigma Chi Derby.

President

Returning to the campus in the fall of 1964, the Epsilon Zeta chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma brought with them an award for scholarship improvement which had been presented to them at their national convention in Sun Valley, Idaho. A lot of enthusiasm came back with them too, as they faced the upcoming year filled with Kappa spirit.

Enthusiasm reaped its rewards when the Kappa's brought home a second place trophy from Campus Sing and a third place trophy in the Sigma Chi Derby. However, the real highlight of spring at the Kappa house was their second annual Mothers' Weekend. Daughters entertained their mothers with a lively card party and a visit to McClay (Killearn) Gardens, and the mothers found out what it's like to eat and sleep at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

MISS RAINEY ALDRICK
President

Phi Mu, second oldest fraternity, was founded on March 4, 1852, at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia. Since its founding on this campus in 1929, the Phi Mu house has been the scene of may good times for the women of the pink carnation.

Fall trimester brought the annual "Carnation Ball" at Wakulla Springs. When Homecoming came, the Phi Mu-Sigma Nu float was judged "Most Beautiful". Hard work and fun led the way to Phi Mu placing first for the Gymkana Service Trophy, first in the Junior League of Tallahassee clothes drive and second in the Soap Box Derby with their brother fraternity Kappa Alpha. At Christmas time, the Phi Mu Santa came to the children of the Candle of Hope School. This year the Phi Mu Social Service Trophy, an annual project presented to the outstanding sorority in social service for the year, was awarded to Alpha Delta Pi.

Pi Beta Phi

Florida Beta of Pi Beta Phi was chartered on this campus in 1921 and its members have lived in the "gingerbread" house on West College ever since. The fall trimester brought many opportunities for Pi Phis to work together: an informal weekend at the Holiday Inn, Homecoming Float which won "Most Appropriate", open house for prospective football players, and Christmas caroling for the Blackwells. With the second trimester came new challenges: participation in Campus Sing, breakfast for members of the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce, the traditional Pi Phi-Theta party, and the culmination of team efforts, the winning of Sigma Chi derby. The main service project is support of the sorority's national settlement school in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Sigma Kappa

MISS JOAN KOHNE
President

With much enthusiasm, Sigma Kappa's Omega chapter began the new school year with campus and sorority activities. An annual event initiated this fall by Omega was the Mothers' Weekend. Sigma Kappa mothers spent three fun-filled days participating in planned activities with their daughters. Such events as a picnic, football game, teas, and pranks by the mothers highlighted the weekend.

The Sigma Kappa's also welcomed a new housemother, Mom Janssen, who formerly was a residence counselor at Wartburg College in Iowa. Socially, the Sigma Kappa's energetically entertained fraternities at their socials, and planned their annual weekend, where Delta Tau Delta, Larry Campbell, was selected as the Sigma Kappa Gentleman.

THE ZETA PICKERS excitedly tune up their instruments for their first appearance on the Ted Mack Amature Hour.

With a cling-clang here and a bing-bang there, the original Zeta Pickers introduced the Florida State campus to a new and entertaining form of hillbilly music. The girls in their uniforms of blue overalls, did not just limit their activities to Tallahassee, but were brought to national fame on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour. During Homecoming the Zeta's kept up their fun-loving spirit and produced the "Most Humorous" float with the Kappa Sig's. As Christmas drew near, they celebrated with their twenty-first Christmas tea for the faculty.

There has been so much current emphasis on international events, and the Zeta's did their part this past year by adopting a Viet Namese child. The girls in the sorority have sent her gifts and money, and have taken turns corresponding with her.

Alpha Phi

Alpha Phi was founded at Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York in 1872. In its six years on the Florida State campus, Gamma Phi of Alpha Phi has been proud of the many honors they have received.

Mixing their studies with a dash of fun, the girls in the new yellow house built a Homecoming float with Phi Kappa Psi's that made the Kentucky Wildcat look like a caged kitty. Other activities the Alpha Phi's enjoyed were dancing to the Chaotics for the sorority weekend, tackling the Pikes in the cane contest, participating in the Sigma Chi Derby, and working on Cardiac Aid. The Sigma Nu's also added to the excitement of the year, by proving that next door neighbors can be good neighbors. The Alpha Phi Ivy Man, this year, is Chuck Gentile.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Rush, rush, rush and with this the girls in the violet dresses were off to a great year with twenty-five new pledges. With "Sigma Hootenany" the theme for their big weekend, the Tri Sigmas had a swinging time. Highlights for the second trimester were the Sigma Chi Derby and decorations. Next came Circus with the stuffed pink elephant leading the way to the Big Top. Anyone for bangles? The Tri Sigmas sold these with the football team for the Tuberculosis Drive Bangle Day, as their public service project. Another memorable year drew to an end in April to the traditional theme of "Pomp and Circumstance."

Inter - Fraternity Council

FRATERNITIES enjoy many socials with sororities, as this one with the Phi Tau's and KD's.

The purpose of an Inter-Fraternity Council is to see that the fraternity system at Florida State University runs as effectively as possible. The council is given the responsibility of regulating such things as rush, social affairs, and academics. The fraternity presidents meet every two weeks and these are the people who make up the council.

With the somewhat new and demanding trimester system, the fraternities have placed special emphasis upon their scholarship. There has been a sense of competition among the various fraternities to obtain the best possible grades. Other principles of action upon which the IFC is based are the upholding of democratic ideals, loyalty to Florida State University, and constructive training and management in responsibility.

THE MEMBERS of the fraternities who compose the council meet twice a month to make plans for their IFC activities.

IFC OFFICERS: Jim Brandt, President; Sherman Henderson, Vice President; Ken Minihan, Treasurer.

Alpha Tau Omega

TOMMY GARWOOD
President

Epsilon Sigma of Alpha Tau Omega was established here in 1949 and has been moving forward ever since. The ATO's this year participated in just about every field the university life offered. They were in intramurals all the way and won the volleyball championship. In Florida State's "Flying High Circus" they had two of their brothers on the flying trapeze. Wayne Giardino represented them with the fighting Seminoles as fullback. Bruce Robinson was a Senator in student government and Tommy Garwood was tapped for ODK this year.

The ATO's also sponsored a foreign student from Spain, Jose Garcia de Reyes. They closed out the year with the Falcons for their weekend and had their annual Lil' Abner Party.

"One little, two little, three little Indians". . .No, it was a whole tribe of Delta Chi Seminoles. It was a raid, all right, but despite all the whooping and war paint, no one was scalped. The Delta Chi's were picking up their dates, Indian style, for their annual Homecoming "Indian Raid."

Although they appeared to be savages, the Delta Chi's washed off their war paint and became pale-faces again to choose the Greek Girl of the Week featured in the Flambeau. At their grand pow-wow, the White Carnation Ball, the Delta Chi braves named Kay Graham as their 1965-66 sweetheart.

Not all "Injuns" are mean, for instead of scalps the Delta Chi's collected money for the March of Dimes. Also, by copping a third place in the Soap Box Derby and a seventh in scholarship, the Delta Chi's showed that Indians can be constructive.

Tradition and heritage play a vital part in the life of a KA. Dedicated to the ideals embodied in its spiritual founder, Robert E. Lee, the men of Gamma Eta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order pride themselves in their southern fraternity.

The KA's are active in campus politics and varsity sports. The Rebel soldiers first appear on campus each fall when they set up road blocks to collect money for the Campus Chest. During the football season, KA's can always be seen waving the Confederate flag and firing their traditional cannon in acts of school spirit.

The Old South Weekend is the highlight of Kappa Alpha's social year. Beginning with the "notice of secession," the weekend ends with the crowning of the "Rose of Kappa Alpha."

Kappa Sigma

BILL SLAUGHTER

The Kappa Sig's traditional "Gator-Wagon" received a severe beating in the fall—with just cause, to be sure. This display of "anti-that-other-school" spirit helped our own university since all proceeds were donated to the Campus Chest.

Combo parties, the Christmas "Snowball Dance," and the fancy "French" weekend kept the year lively for the Kappa Sig's and their dates.

Despite all the social fanfare, the pledges somehow found time to pave the parking lot behind the house. And, as part of "Operation Brotherhood," they painted the Salvation Army building. Could it be that the pledges pulled the old "Tom Sawyer-with-the-whitewash trick?" For soon, even the actives were in on the painting; but this time it was a community project to paint local churches.

JIM BRANDT
President

This year was another big one for the Zeta Rho chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha. Not only did the men of Lambda Chi successfully carry out their annual "Mom-Napping" ceremonies, but they "polished a few apples" by entertaining several faculty members. The pledge class promoted the pancake industry and earned money for the Campus Chest with its popular "Pancake-Eating Contest," and the chapter furthered the advancement of Greek literature with its "Dante's Inferno" weekend.

Service? Why, Lambda Chi's found time to become involved in almost everything from Phi Beta Kappa and Student Government to All-American football and the sponsoring of a twelve-year old Italian girl, living in Italy. In conjunction with Chi Omega, the Lambda Chi's entertained a group of retarded children at their Halloween Party.

Sweetheart

Florida Gamma Chapter of Phi Delta Theta is a very active fraternity on campus. The scholarship trophy, "Most Appropriate" Homecoming float, and a place on the Homecoming Court for Sweetheart, Jan Brantley, are just a few of this year's honors. The Phi Delt's have held the intramurals trophy for eleven of the last fourteen years, and brothers are found in every varsity sport. Honor Court, Student Senate, class officers, Gold Key, ODK, and "F" Club all claim Phi Delt's as members.

In conjunction with Alpha Gamma Delta, Phi Delta Theta sponsored the annual Soap Box Derby to earn money for the Community Chest. The Bowery Ball, fraternity weekend, socials, and "after the game" dances highlighted the Phi Delt's social calendar.

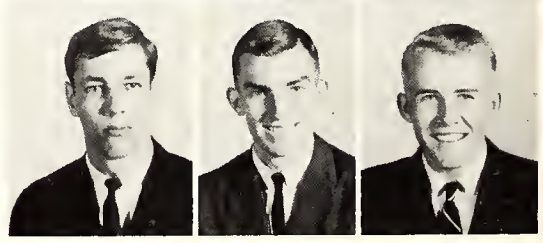
Kerr, S.



Football games, parties, and studies kept the men of Phi Kappa Tau hard at work throughout the academic year. Intramurals claimed a large portion of their time and strength; but they were rewarded for their efforts as they captured the softball trophy and became "three-year winners" in football. The Phi Tau's were also active in student government. Entertainment included their Bohemian Party, Christmas Party, and the Phi Tau Spring Weekend.

In memory of their Phi Tau brother, James Beard, the men of Beta Iota chapter established a rotating scholarship trophy. Each trimester it is presented to the sorority with the most improved academic average. The first sorority to receive the James Beard Memorial Trophy was Delta Gamma.

The 1964-65 academic year was a memorable and fun-filled year for Pi Kappa Alpha. The night before Homecoming, Pike pledges stayed up all night to guard against float saboteurs and almost caught a few culprits. Nothing stopped the Pike brothers as they ran the Pi Kappa Alpha flag across the field before the Kentucky game, not even two Kentucky players. The "Cane-Snatching Contest" brought early-rising sorority girls to the fraternity house in search of unwary neophytes. And, thanks to the Pike pledges, the Delta Gamma's found their anchor painted a bright, multi-colored Scotch plaid.

Founder's Day marked the ground-breaking ceremonies of the new Pi Kappa Alpha house, which will be completed by September. Serenades, parties, a wild "Western Weekend," and the Thanksgiving Food Fling exemplified a few of the Pike's socials.

When passing the SAE House, one never misses the white lion which guards its entrance. Although traditionally white, the lion was usually splashed with a variety of colors. From time to time, a few coeds got the nerve to sneak over to the house with paint and brushes and leave their mark upon the old beast. However, Leo was well guarded, and the girls quite often paid for their antics by losing a lock of hair, snipped off right in the front where it would be the most noticeable. At Christmas, the lion was even adorned as Santa Claus!

When not guarding the lion, the SAE's could be found participating in political pursuits, intramural and varsity sports, and enjoying parties such as their frequent Saturday morning combo parties.

Sigma Chi

During its thirteenth year on the FSU campus, Epsilon Zeta chapter of Sigma Chi continued to be very active in campus life. While always maintaining a high scholastic rating, the Sig's excelled in student government as well as in varsity sports. The Sig's also rendered services to the community for they provided a blood donation center, worked on Civil Defense projects, and raised money to buy food for needy families at Christmas.

Spirits were high and competition was keen at the annual "Sigma Chi Derby Day." A national event, the Derby gave all Greeks a chance to enjoy themselves as sororities battled it out in egg-throwing contests, three-legged sack races and tug-of-wars, to mention a few of the events.

MISS JUDY CUMBIE
Sweetheart

Founded in Richmond, Virginia, in 1901, the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is one of the youngest national fraternities. Despite its youth, Sigma Phi Epsilon is nationally ranked as second largest in the number of active members. Sig Ep attributes its growth to its outstanding policies and leadership in the National Inter-Fraternity Council.

The Sig Ep's on campus are identified by their heart-shaped pins and famous "Red Door." In intramurals, varsity sports, Homecoming activities, Student Government, or scholarship ratings, Sig Ep's are always active participants. Their distinctive serenades are popular with the coeds, and their annual Sig Ep Calendar Girl Contest is one of the highlights of the academic year.

Theta Chi

The men of Theta Chi fraternity have been traditionally known for their well roundness and this year has been no exception. From varsity athletics to campus politics and everywhere in between, the men of Theta Chi have performed exceedingly well. Their outstanding social calendar featured such annual colorful events as the roaring twenties party, the "Viking Feast" and last but not least, their Spring Weekend where everyone anxiously awaited the crowning of the dream girl.

Garbed in their traditional red blazers which have been adopted by many of the Theta Chi chapters across the nation, they worked hard to perfect the many beautiful and distinctive serenades that were presented throughout the year. In intramurals Theta Chi took second place. The brothers and the pledges of the chapter had a very meaningful year.

The men of Pi Kappa Phi began the year by raising money for Campus Chest with their annual faculty slave auction, and, working in conjunction with the DG's, they created the "best-all-around" Homecoming float. FSU's "Flying High" Circus claimed many Pi Kapp's as active participants, and the brothers entertained the patients of W. T. Edwards Hospital as a philanthropic project.

Placing second in scholarship among fraternities, Pi Kappa Phi boasted of a first place in the division of active members' averages. The Pi Kapp's ended the year with their Rose Ball Weekend.

Hunting buried treasure? Doing research work for archaeology? Digging for worms? No, it's just the pledges digging a place for a pool to highlight the Phi Kappa Psi "Beachcomber" weekend.

But don't let it be said that the Phi Psi's spent all of their time building swimming pools. They sponsored a Christmas party for the children of Sunland Training Center, bringing the children to the party in buses. As a memorial to a brother, the pledge class added a room to the house which will be used as a library. The Sigma Nu's possess other talents in addition to interior decorating. There are brothers in all phases of campus activities, not excluding sports. # Tau Epsilon Phi

Tau Epsilon Phi was founded in 1910 at Columbia University. On the Florida State University campus the TEP's have taken part in numerous community and university activities. During the Muscular Dystrophy Drive they collected two hundred dollars. Scholastically, the TEP's maintained third place in overall scholarship among the fraternities.

The school year 1964-65 goes into the record gooks indelibly marked with athletic success that is unprecedented at the Florida State University. Long anxious for an equitable place in the southeastern athletic sun, the Seminoles compiled an all-sports record that may not have its equal in the nation.

Eight teams won 95 contests, lost 28, and tied two--a winning percentage of .772. The list of accomplishments is long and impressive. Included are a major bowl victory, the school's first football All American, four undefeated teams, and two teams which competed for national championships.

Probably even more significant was the complete domination over cross-state rival Florida. While the Gators won the Southeastern Conference's all-sports championship, they played second fiddle in a composition destined to rework the entire collegiate athletic structure of the state. Following the first-ever football victory over the Gators, Florida State went on to win 13 decisions while losing only three. It was the first time Florida State ever won an all-sports title from Florida, and the most complete domination by one school over the other since athletic competition between the two began some ten years ago.

Win Starts Season For The Seminoles

In front of 51,608 rainsoaked fans, the surehanded and sensational Fred Biletnikoff pulled down nine passes, two for touchdowns, and led the Seminoles to an emphatic 14-0 trouncing of the University of Miami Hurricanes for the season's opener.

Steve Tensi, distinctly FSU's best quarterback, on that night, threw both touchdown strikes, one in the first quarter and one in the second. Tensi threw a total of 154 yards to break a 1,711 yard tie for passing yardage.

For the first time in FSU's history, football fans chartered a train named the "Seminole Engine." The trip is believed to be the longest intra-state journey by any organized group of football fans.

Sparked by the fine defensive play of linebacker Bill McDowell, the Magnificent Seven blanked a strong TCU team 10-0 in Ft. Worth. McDowell, voted "Seminole of the Week" against Miami, recovered two fumbles and blocked a fourth quarter field goal attempt which could have tied the score 3-3.

Tensi threw short tosses to ends, Floyd, Wachtel, and Dawson, and backs, Spooner and Narramore, in mounting the Seminole drives. Spooner ran in the day's only touchdown, and Les Murdock booted a 19 yard field goal to cap the day's scoring.

FSU'S WAYNE MCDUFFIE (82) BLOCKS THE RUNNING WAY OF TCU'S FRANK HORAK (19) THE WB.

New Mexico Dazed By Seminoles

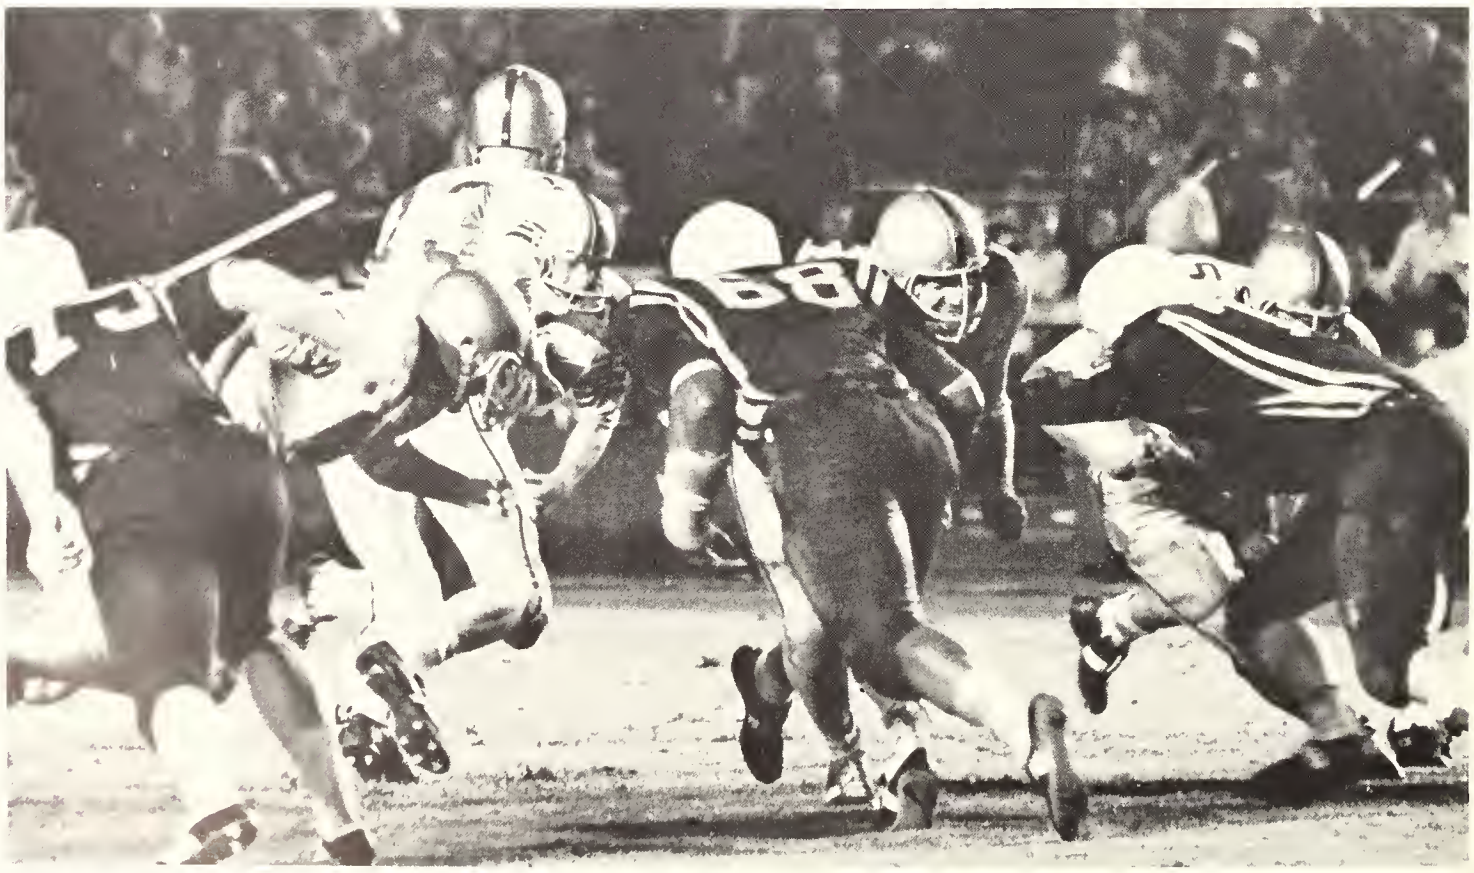
FLORIDA STATE'S quarterback Pritchett (16) hits the Aggies for a drive that helps put the Seminoles on the warpath for FSU.

FSU won its third straight victory with a 36-0 win over the New Mexico Aggies and became the only unbeaten, untied, and unscored upon major college team in the nation. In the newly expanded Campbell Stadium, a record crowd of 25,000 people watched as the Seminole offense scored in every quarter, despite the rain-soaked field.

The Magnificent Seven and Forgotten Four did their job as usual, allowing the Aggies inside their 20 yard line only once during the entire game. Brilliant passing and successful toe work carried the Seminoles to a 16-0 lead in the first half. By the end of the second half FSU had scored twenty more points, making the final tally 36-0.



STEVE TENSI (13) WITH A STRONG LINE SETS UP A PASS TO BILETNIKOFF FOR A TOUCHDOWN.

THE FANS AND THE WILDCATS ARE STUNNED AS THE SEMINOLES BRING KENTUCKY TO A HALT.

Ready Seminoles Upset Wildcats

The crowd of 34,248 Homecoming fans were awe-struck as the Seminoles tore apart the University of Kentucky 48-6. What made the victory so outstanding was Kentucky's previous accomplishments; the Wildcats had, in successive weeks, knocked off Mississippi and Auburn, both ranked among the top ten.

Steve Tensi passed for two touchdowns, one 58 yard toss to Biletnikoff and Phil Spooner., Wayne Giardino, Lee Narramore and Ed Pritchett ran through the Wildcat defense for 187 yards and five more TD's. FSU's Magnificent Seven and Forgotten Four stopped Kentucky cold with outstanding line play and jarring tackles, which kept them constantly in the hole. As a result of his outstanding play, Steve Tensi was voted national "Back of the Week" and Bill Peterson was voted "Coach of the Week."

THE FIGHTING SEMINOLES led by halfback Green (20) charge down the field as they crash through the Wildcats.

Seminoles Edge Bulldogs

WITH BLOCKERS OPENING THE WAY, SPOONER (27) ONCE AGAIN GOES FOR ANOTHER FIRST DOWN.

After years of frustration, the Georgia Bulldogs initiated what seemed to be a rise from the squalid rubble of the bottom of the SEC pack. Following a large, hard-rushing line, the dogged Athens backs gained ground against a Seminole defense touted as one of the best in the nation.

Florida State realized early in the game that Georgia was not a whimpering litter of Bullpups, but a monstrous Bulldog, wanting and striving for national recognition. FSU was forced to recover a Georgia fumble at the Tribe 3 yard-line after the opening kick-off, but the Seminoles roared back to place the decisive 3-pointer through the uprights.

With 12:13 left in the game, the Bulldogs scored to capture the lead, but the Chiefs were destined to extend their winning football to a 5-0 season. Only 5 minutes and 52 seconds later field general Steve Tensi hit flankerback Fred Biletnikoff for the score, nudging the Bulldogs by the narrow margin of 17-14.

HALFBACK Phil Spooner (27) jumps over the Bulldog line with the help of part of the Tribe's line Del Williams (70).

FRED BILETNIKOFF gets his hands on the ball and he is off leaving a trail of hard-running Gobblers behind.

Tribe Scalped By The VPI's Gobblers

Virginia Tech rudely knocked the Seminoles from the undefeated ranks despite the school records set for passing and receiving by Tensi and Biletnikoff.

Playing before an aroused Homecoming crowd in Blacksburg, the Gobblers followed their excellent quarterback, Bob Schweickert, to their upset win. Exploiting an FSU fumble, Schweickert passed 19 yds. to an eligible tackler for their opening score and scored twice more in the closing period on two five yard runs. Tensi completed 21 of 39 passes for 290 yards and one T.D.—a four-yard toss to Biletnikoff. Fred caught 11 passes for 182 yards and one touchdown to set the FSU single game record for receiving.

The game knocked the Seminoles out of the top ten but reaffirmed their determination to prove themselves worthy of a Bowl Bid.

SEMINOLE LEE NARRAMORE OPENS UP FOR EXTRA YARDAGE AS HE BURSTS THROUGH VPI'S LINE.

FSU Takes Southern Miss. 36-0

For Florida State, it was the first victory over Southern Mississippi since 1956. For Southern Mississippi the 36-0 drubbing by the Seminoles was a painful beating. The game was a rout from the beginning, but was different for two reasons. Steve Tensi, shocked 26,000 fans by running the ball over from the two-yard-line for the first touchdown of his career. The second surprise was the halfback pass utilizing the strong arm of Ed Pritchett, who passed 43 yards to Biletnikoff to set up Tensi's scoring run. Touchdowns by end Red Dawson, halfbacks Phil Spooner and Larry Green, and flankerback Fred Biletnikoff, coupled with the outstanding defensive play of the Magnificent Seven, gave Seminole fans plenty to cheer about.

AFTER A GREAT CATCH Don Floyd (81) leads a charge down field knocking over a strong defense to make a first down.

THE FIGHTING SEMINOLES TAKE TO THE AIR AS THEY OVERRIDE SOUTHERN MISS.

COUGAR'S MIKE SPRATT (22) IS BROUGHT TO HALT BY A BAND OF DETERMINED FSU SEMINOLES.

LEFT HALFBACK Phil Spooner (27) sweeps around right end with the blocking of the seven to back him up for a FSU first.

Cougars Battle Tribe For A Tie

Without the services of Fred Biletnikoff due to an injured leg, FSU's offensive unit lacked its usual explosive punch. End, Don Floyd, took up some of the slack, catching eight passes which helped to build a 13-0 lead. Les Murdock put the Tribe ahead in the first part of the second quarter with a 34 yard field goal. Jack Shinholser recovered a Houston fumble on the Florida State's seven to hold Houston scoreless at the half. Winfred Bailey intercepted a pass in the third period, setting up a second field goal by Murdock. Minutes later Tensi completed two passes to Floyd for 35 yards and one to Red Dawson, setting up Wayne Giardino's one yard conversion. The Cougars took advantage of an interference penalty to score from the one. Later a pass interception led to Cougar Dick Post's 18 yard touchdown. Houston missed the point after touchdown, knotting the score at 13 all.

WOLFPACK'S NOGGLE (19) IS STOPPED DEAD IN HIS TRACKS BY SEMINOLE'S AVERY SUMNER (73).

Tribe Turns The Wolfpack Into Pups

Phil Spooner and Wayne Giardino ran North Carolina State's Wolfpack ragged in a 28-6 Seminole victory. Capitalizing on three North Carolina fumbles, FSU ran up an impressive 21-0 halftime lead.

Spooner and Giardino ran for touchdowns of two and one yards respectively, and Tensi hit Biletnikoff with scoring tosses of 11 and 37 yards for two more. Les Murdock added four straight extra points to cap the scoring. With the first string out of action after the first half, the Seminoles played good football until the final minute, when the Wolfpack could not be denied and finally scored. A visiting team for the first time all year had penetrated the Florida State goal line.

FULLBACK Les Murdock (42) kicks another perfect extra pointer which made four straight extra points for the Chiefs.

Never Say Never, Gators

SEMINOLE quarterback Ed Pritchett (16) watches from the side lines as the Chiefs smashed the Gator's line.

Fumbling themselves into a first quarter hole, the scrappy Seminoles surged into seven point advantage in the second quarter with a 55-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletnikoff. From that point on, the Gator's would never be able to claim "Never, FSU, Never" again.

Florida State's offense was constantly knocking on the door of paydirt and the Magnificent Seven and Forgotten Four consistently restrained the vain attempts of the Gator team. Les Murdock, Tribe extra-point kicker, placed ten points between the uprights in the Seminoles' decisive 16-7 victory over the hapless Gators. Florida's first appearance in Tallahassee's Doak S. Campbell Stadium resulted in a disastrous meeting with the Seminoles.

Seminoles Beat Sooners

While a record of 50,408 fans and seven ABC television cameras looked on, Florida State smashed eleven Gator Bowl records and electrified the nation with its explosive brand of football. Steve Tensi completed 23 of 36 passes for 303 yards, Fred Biletnikoff caught 13 passes for 192 yards and four touchdowns, and the Tribe ran up 29 first downs, 17 through the air, in setting the records.

After intercepting a Tensi pass, Oklahoma was driving into Seminole territory when cornerback Howard Ehler picked off a Sooner pass and, with key blocks from Terry Garvin and Dick Herman, raced 69 yards for the T.D.

Three more touchdowns in the first half, sparked by the hard running backfield and fine defensive play of the Magnificent Seven gave FSU a 24-7 lead.

In the second half the Tribe scored twice on sprints by Spooner and Giardino, capped by passes to Biletnikoff. The Magnificent Seven, led by Avery Sumner and Jack Shinholser, continually stopped Sooner drives and prevented a last ditch scoring effort by holding Oklahoma on four plays from the one yard line in the last seconds.

For Florida State, the Gator Bowl victory brought enormous prestige. The credit for this glory must go to our players and coaches.

SEMINOLE John Rogers puts on a strong drive against Joe Newton of Auburn as the Chiefs win one more game.

Bud Kennedy turned in his seventeenth year at the helm, and seniors Bob Lovell, Pete Gonzalez, and Jerry Shirley played important roles as the Seminoles ran up FSU's best record since 1956.

The Tribe's 16 victories were the most by an FSU team in eight years. It was the recovery of Shirley, 6-6 forward, from a mediocre junior season and an early-season illness, and the leadership of guards Lovell and Gonzalez that led the Tribe to wins over Baylor, Georgia, Miami, Memphis State, Georgia Tech, Auburn and Duquesne.

Junior forward Gary Schull provided early heroics, then yielded the year's points title to Shirley. Schull beat Florida and Tulsa with last second baskets, and scored 20 or more in three straight games at mid-season.

Nothing thrilled Seminole fans, though, like the Tribe's annual mid-year fling. After outscoring Georgia nine points in overtime for a 64-55 victory at Athens, Kennedy's shuffling team came home and won five straight, then knocked off Duquesne and Memphis on Seminole home ground.

Thinclads On Top Again

The track team at Florida State hardly drew a deep breath en route to its second straight undefeated season.

Led by co-captains Jerry McDaniel and Al Cato, the Seminoles easily defeated Miami, Furman, South Carolina, Auburn, and Florida in dual competition.

The Florida State cross-country team also had five victories, no losses, and the Seminoles tied for first place in the Montgomery, Alabama Coliseum Relays during the indoor season. McDaniel, who competed in the NCAA championships along with broad jumper Sid Gainey and Triple jumper Don Casteel, was undefeated in the 220 yard dash during three seasons of dual competition.

Gainey and Casteel set school records in their specialties, as did McDaniel in the 220 and 440, Cato and Ken White in the 100 yard dash, and Steve Landis in the 330 intermediate hurdles.

A sudden batting slump brought disaster to Florida State at the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska, but elimination did little to dim the record of Fred Hatfield in his second season as Seminole baseball coach. Florida State finished fifth nationally in the poll conducted by Collegiate Baseball, sport's official newspaper. Highlight of the season was the fourth District III championship won by Florida State teams in eight trips to Gastonia, N.C., traditional site of the tournament. The Seminoles lost the first game of the double-elimination affair to Mississippi State, but came back to defeat Maryland State, and Furman twice for the title. In the opening round of the World Series, eventual runner-up Ohio State beat FSU 2-1, but Hatfield's team came back with a 12-inning 4-3 victory over Texas before falling to St. Louis, 5-3 to finish the season with a 32-11-1 record.

THE NEW SWIMMING pool offers many advantages such as the underwater windows which allow a different view.

The 1965 Florida State swimming team settled the issue once and for all -- the Seminoles are Dixie's best swimmers. Other pretenders to the title were North Carolina, North Carolina State, and Florida, perennial Champion of the Southeastern Conference.

Coach Bim Stults' Seminoles took on Carolina and N. C. State in a single weekend and important victories by Doug Kruger and Mike Koch in the breast-stroke and record-breaking laps by Dick Abbott and Dick Acosta gave Florida State 55-40 and 56-39 wins.

If that wasn't enough, Stults pulled a rare feat -- he swam his best men in every event, and wrecked Florida, 72-23 in one of the most humiliating defeats ever handed the Gators by the Tribe.

The Seminoles nine dual meet victories ran their unbeaten string to 16 and wrapped up Stults' sixth no-losses in 16 at Florida State University. His record --won 132, lost 22.

Wood, a Seminole star for two years, gave up his final year of eligibility to assume the coaching duties.

Outside of a late season upset by Rollins, the teams which defeated Florida State were among the nation's strongest. Georgia Tech won two matches from the Seminoles, and Miami, Mississippi State, Indiana, and Rollins were victors over FSU once each. The Women's Recreation Association sponsoring the Women's Intramural Program had between 1000 and 1500 participants in the program during the 1964-65 school year. Activities included archery, badminton, basketball, bowling, deck tennis, golf, horseshoes, softball, swimming, table tennis, tennis, and volleyball. The Association aims for: "a sport for every woman and a woman in every sport." Besides the participants many other students were involved in leadership capacities as unit managers, sports managers, and officials. The program is growing with each passing year and is limited only by quantity of facilities. Volleyball, alone, drew 39 teams from sororities, dormitories and other organizations. The trophies, designating victory in each sport, were about evenly divided among the participating groups: sororities, dorms, and other organizations connected with Florida State.

Intramurals Start To Grow

THE GIRLS SHOW THE BOYS that they also can appreciate the many sports that Intramural offers.

Men's Intramural enjoyed its finest year in 1964-65. More than five thousand men participated in the sixteen different sports and expended more than fifty thousand man hours in practice and participation. The Intramural program provided entertainment for large numbers of spectators at every game. A total of sixteen thousand students watched 154 flag football games. Basketball, volleyball, wrestling, track and field, swimming and softball also drew large numbers of students as spectators. It is our dream that facilities will be built and equipment provided in various locations on the Campus so that each student will find it convenient to play whatever game and whatever reasonable hour it suits his inclination.

THE PHI KAPPA TAU'S MAKE AN EXTRA EFFORT TO WIN AGAIN

Intramurals, an important part of student life, provides opportunities for social as well as physical development.

This years intramural athletic program at Florida State sparkled with spirit and excitement. Intramurals for men are sponsored by the Intramurals Office, and those for women by the Women's Recreational Association. Planned to include the participation of both the fraternity and independent organizations on campus, the program featured competition in most every sport for which FSU has the equipment.

Trophies were presented to winners of each sport division, and a rotating trophy was given to the team with the highest overall point average.

The highest men's leadership honorary on campus, Omicron Delta Kappa, recognizes those who have made outstanding accomplishments in their collegiate activities. Drawn from junior and senior men as well as from the faculty and administration, members are chosen on the basis of their character, leadership, service to the university, and consecration to democratic ideals.

In order to qualify for membership in the number one national leadership honorary for men, one must have attained excellence in at least two of the areas of scholarship, political affairs, religious affairs, athletics, and the dramatic arts. Service projects for this year included a week-end leadership workshop for superior high school students and the Bob Crenshaw Scholarship Fund car tag sale.

Hines Boyd served as president, with Bill Wood, vice president; Dr. Warren Nation, faculty secretary; and Mr. Joe Plant, sponsor.

To promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to promote and maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman is the purpose of Mortar Board. The Torchbearer chapter of this national organization was founded on the Florida State campus in 1931.

Mortar Board sponsors many activities on campus, including the Last Lecture Series and Penny-a-Minute Night. It also presents plaques to the students with the highest averages in each class at the annual Honors Night Program.

The organization is sponsored by Dr. Tanzy, Dr. Killian, and Dr. Frank and is led by Marsha Lynn, president; Kit Killian, vice president; Francis Ubele, secretary; Sandy Lewis, treasurer; Sue Mauger, historian; and Pat Freeman, editor.

Gold Key was founded on the Florida State campus in 1947, to recognize and foster leadership and service among outstanding junior and senior men. New members are tapped twice each year on the basis of their leadership, scholarship, and service to Florida State University.

Many of Gold Key's service projects extend beyond the boundaries of the campus. This year Gold Key has been active in helping other campuses to organize honoraries and also in helping the people of Tallahassee with many of their service projects. Its main social event of the year is the annual Garnet and Gold Homecoming Banquet, co-sponsored by Garnet and Gold Key.

Serving Gold Key this year were Ray Whitehead, president; John Jones, vice president; Eric Collins, secretary; Jim Brandt, treasurer; and Professor Claude Flory, sponsor.

Mortified taps one less member than its rival organization, Mortar Board. The taps must be of junior standing and must have contributed to FSU through leadership, spirit, character, and service. A high scholastic average is not required, thus the origin of the distinguished pink and green dunce cap pin. However, every member of Mortified has achieved honors at Florida State.

The traditional outfits of the Mortified members are white skirts, red blouses, and Mortar Boards on sideways. The familiar and incessant theme song is "Eii, Eii, we're Mortified!"

Girls in blue and white dashing around with friendly smiles and heavy luggage are among the first students to greet the FSU freshmen girls. Sophomore Council is a tradition on this campus, and to be tapped into it is the highest honor a second semester freshman can receive. The organization taps ten per cent of the freshman girls to serve the school their sophomore year. They are voted on by their classmates, junior and dorm counselors.

Their activities? They are the girls found all over campus staffing voting polls, stuffing envelopes, typing, and helping wherever they are needed. Traditionally, Sophomore Council has gathered to sing around Bryan flagpole after meetings, but this year with the addition of the Union pool, the members now congregate around the pool to sing. Sophomore Council is a service organization, and, just as important, it is also a group of friends.

It was learned in the fall that funds were to be made available by the Florida Methodist Conference for the construction of a new chapel for the Foundation. This set off a series of events which will culminate in the fall of 1966 when the new chapel is scheduled to be completed. Victor A. Lundy, an internationally known contemporary architect is designing the structure.

Another facet of the expanding Foundation program was the opening of two new units, one to serve the west campus and another to serve Alumni Village.

Officers for this year were Wayne Cowart, president; Caroline Rowe, Pat LePaige, Pearl Raynor, vice-presidents; Leland Gustafson, treasurer; and Lynn LePaige, secretary.

Marching Chiefs

The Marching Chiefs came up with another "winning season" this year with several outstanding and original shows. Two of the band's favorites were "Salute to Glenn Miller" and an original composition by Charles Carter, a member of the FSU music faculty. The band met in Jacksonville for the highlight of the season at the Gator Bowl. This show sparked the field with the best pieces of the season using "Florida" as its theme.

In November the Marching Chiefs sponsored "Band Day," inviting all the neighboring high school bands and majorettes to perform at a football game. At pre-game and half-time the field was adorned with forty bands and two-hundred majorettes performing to a political theme. The FSU band played "Hello Lyndon" and "Goldwater's Bandwagon."

The group was directed by Robert Braunagel and assisted by Clifford Matson. Roger McLendon was drum major and head majorette was Janice Eddins.

In 1951 seventy-one cadets enrolled in the U. S. Army ROTC program. Today over three hundred men participate. The objective of the program is to produce leaders who are prepared to assume their positions of responsibility almost immediately upon entering active service. College men are offered the opportunity to be commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army after completing four years of on-campus training. Since 1958 one hundred ninety-six graduates have received commissions.

The Florida State ROTC unit offers participation in many activities to its cadets: Pershing Rifles, a national honorary for freshmen and sophomores and Scabbard and Blade for outstanding Advanced ROTC students. Special units within the Brigade are: Drill Team, Band, and the Counterguerilla Platoon.

Air Force R.O.T.C.

The Air Force Officer Training Corps was organized at the Florida State University in 1950 and has developed into one of the finer AFROTC organizations in the nation.

The primary purpose of the AFROTC program is to prepare male students through a program of training to serve as officers in the United States Air Force. This program includes a variety of academic, military, and leadership subjects designed to prepare the cadets for their responsibility as officers, and is one of the primary sources for the Air Force officer today.

Angel Flight, a womens honorary drill team and service organization, is sponsored by the Arnold Air Society, an AFROTC honorary organization.

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges

MIKE DEVANE
President of ATO

Outstanding FSU seniors and graduate students were given the distinction of election to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Using a point system for the areas of campus activity, the Who's Who Nominating Committee prepared a ballot of names of students considered worthy of the honor. The committee, under student government, publicized the list of names, which was submitted to the student body in the spring elections for a vote.

Those elected have made valuable contributions to FSU. National Who's Who recognizes students from schools all over the country and keeps their records after their college lives have ended. Who's Who offers these outstanding students various benefits, on the assumption that they are young people who are likely to be successful in later life.

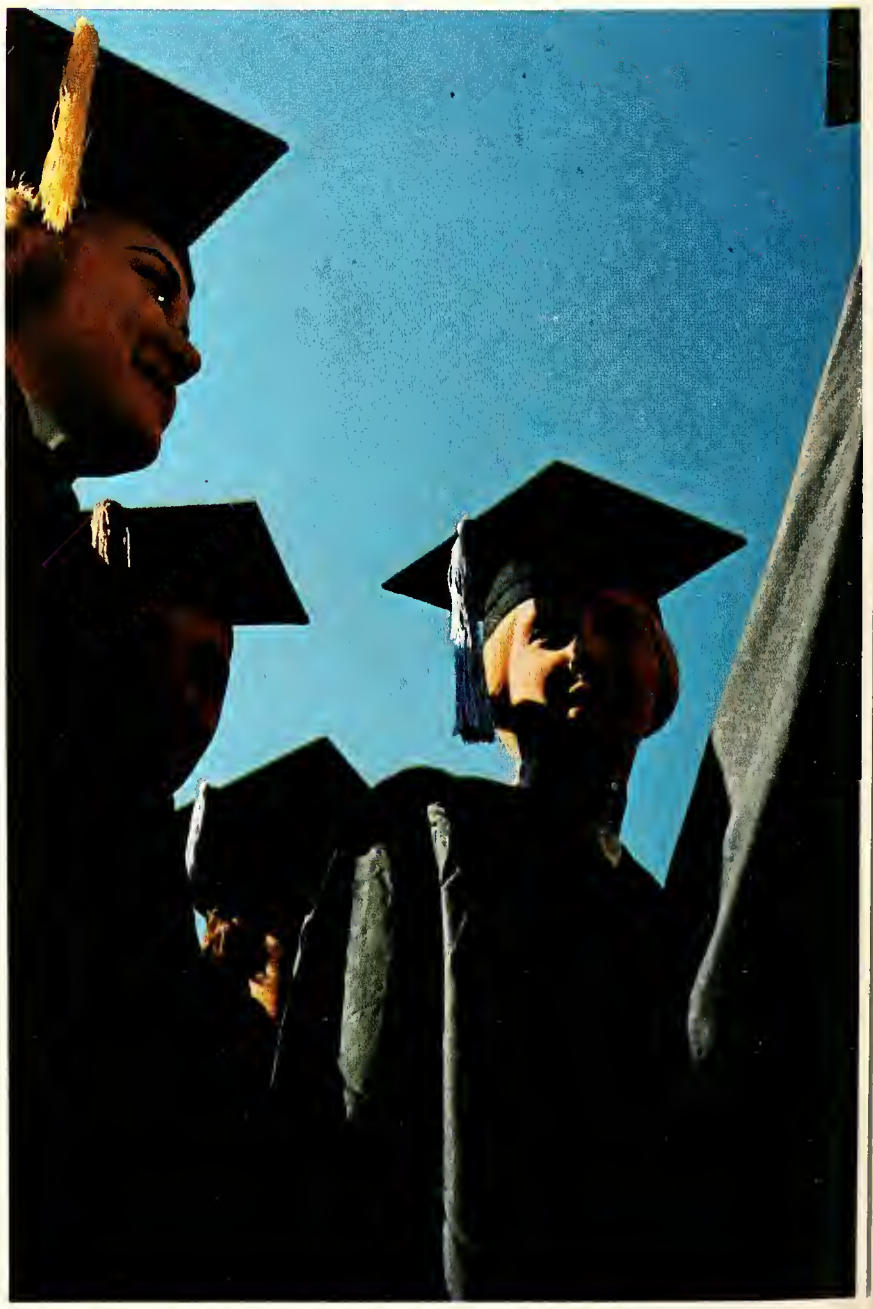
We have fulfilled one aim--a college education. We are both proud and humble, sad and joyful. However, our education is more than a conglomeration of facts and concepts; it is a knowledge of how to enjoy other people and how to broaden our outlooks through activities and events outside the classroom. The University Union has been a factor of great importance in producing this knowledge. It has helped to make each of us an individual. A Union is "indeed an individual thing."



And now some of us must continue our growth and development elsewhere. We must move forward along the path which originated with our entrance into The Florida State University, and which now stretches before us--a challenge, an opportunity--to infinity.

In Retrospect . . .

The campus of Florida State University has changed greatly in the last few years. The latest addition, and the one effecting the most people--students, faculty, and university guests--is the new University Union. With this in mind, we selected the Union as our theme for the 1965 TALLY HO. Because the idea of a Union is new to the campus, we have tried to present all facets of it--the activities, programs, and organization. To some students, this will be their first glimpse inside the buildings; to others, it will recall the many activities and enrichments the Union has offered to them. Whatever you see, we hope you like it.

With the Union playing so vital a part in the "life" of the TALLY HO, we all returned in the fall quite anxious to be moved and settled in our new offices located in the Union. But that had to wait. There we sat, in our penthouse in Longmire, all packed up and no place to go. For three months, we heard "Tomorrow, we move!" That big day finally arrived in November. Copy, pictures, and layouts got lost, but somehow we managed to survive and get the book underway once more.

Producing the yearbook has been a tremendous task, and without the help of many, many people it would have been impossible. I could never begin to name everyone, but I must mention some people in particular. My thanks goes out especially to the News Bureau and to Bill Bunker of the Sports Publicity Department for all of their help; to Jim Vastine and the FLAMBEAU for letting us raid their photo files when our pictures were missing; to the advertising and business staffs for keeping our morale up in the day and the yearbook staff out at night; to Dean Katherine Warren for those late permissions in trying to meet deadlines; to Carole and David Benson for putting up with me the last few weeks; and to countless others who must go unnamed but appreciated.

To my staff, who somehow remained loyal during the trials and tribulations of producing a yearbook, I wish to express my deepest gratitude. I especially appreciate the efforts of Pat Kennon and Anna Mills during 3-A in finishing the book. To Gary Wetherington, my managing editor, and to Grady Toler, manager of the Publications Lab, I owe my heartfelt thanks. Without you, this book would never have been a reality.

After much packing and unpacking, many long hours, overflowing ashtrays and waste baskets, pictures without identifications, identifications without pictures, and missing copy, the work is through for this year. To next year's editor and staff, I wish the very best of luck.

And now, we present to you and to posterity, our ideas of life at FSU, centering around the University Union--the 1965 TALLY HO.

Susan Fincher,
Editor
